Dear Professor Macintyre,

In spite of being very much interested in assisting at the Edinburgh Congress, I am afraid I shall not be able to do so. Nevertheless I should like to know whether, even not assisting at the same, one could present Notes.

Enclosed I am sending you the Spanish translation of the sentences you are interested in. I am very pleased indeed having been able to be of service to you.

Awaiting with interest the copy of your communication in Helsinki, which you were so kind as to promise me, I am with the best wishes.
yours sincerely
