Dear Professor Sunyer Balaguer:

May I introduce myself as a Liaison Scientist for mathematics at the Office of Naval Research in London. I am currently on leave of absence from Stanford University, California, where I am Professor of Mathematics. Part of my duties involve visits to mathematics departments at European universities. My own particular interests are in applied mathematics, and especially the boundary value problems for partial differential equations.

I expect to be in Barcelona on 9 November and would appreciate an opportunity to visit your department on that day if convenient. Please let me know at what time you or one of your associates would be able to see me. Thanking you in anticipation,

Sincerely yours,

Harold Levine
