Welcome to the Journal of Catalan Intellectual History (JOCIH). The JOCIH is an online and paper publication created with the twofold purpose of fostering and disseminating at an international level the studies on Catalan Philosophy and Intellectual History. This Journal is published in a Catalan and English electronic version (<http://revistes.iec.cat/index.php/JOCIH>) at the Open Journal System of the Institut d'Estudis Catalans (IEC), and in English paper version by Huygens Editorial (Barcelona). The appearance of the journal will be biannual.

The JOCIH is edited by several universities of the Catalan speaking area (Autonomous University of Barcelona, University of Barcelona, University of Valencia) and three Academic Societies (Societat Catalana de Filosofia, Societat de Filosofia del País Valencià, Associació Filosòfica de les Illes Balears), with the support of three Institutes (Institut d'Estudis Catalans, Institut de Dret i Tecnologia UAB, Institut Ramon Llull).

Content

As shown by the Catalan name of the journal –Revista d'Història de la Filosofia Catalana– the JOCIH focuses mainly on philosophy. However, we understand intellectual history as a synonymous of cultural heritage in a broader sense. From this point of view, we consider cultural history, the history of ideas and the history of philosophy as different and acceptable perspectives on this same matter. Authors are encouraged to submit papers on philosophy, humanities, social sciences, religion, art and other related subjects from a historical approach. But essays and more general reflections are welcome.

Not only does the journal offer articles on specific topics, but it also contains critical reviews of editorial novelties, memory documentaries and exhaustive bio-bibliographies of the different Catalan, Valencian, Balearic or Northern Catalan authors (especially from 18th to 21st centuries). However, the JOCIH aims at fostering the international research on Catalan intellectual history from the sixteenth century as well. The website associated with the journal (<http://www.catalanphilosophy.com>) offers updated news on publications and academic events related to Catalan Philosophy, difficult-to-access books, articles published in other journals and audiovisual materials.

Peer Review Policy

The journal seeks for academic excellence. Authors from all over the world are invited to submit their manuscripts (up to 6000 words) at the IEC Open Journal System, using the JOCIH template, available at the JOCIH website. They may use either the Catalan or English templates (or both, which is recommended). Publication guidelines can be also found on the website. Each paper will be carefully evaluated through a double blind peer review process related to the content. Accepted papers will be published in both languages, and will require an additional task of work of careful language editing.
