Open Education Week

Open Education Week (<https://www.openeducationweek.org/>) takes place during the first week of March. It is an annual global initiative aimed to raise awareness about the advantages of implementing open educational resources and practices.

Open Education Week is part of the Open Education Global (<http://www.oeglobal.org>) program that aims to expand access to education, as well as improving its quality, making it more accessible and boosting student success. Open Education Resources (OER) (<http://en.unesco.org/themes/building-knowledge-societies/oer>) are based on acknowledgement of authorship and public domain, or an open license that permits no-cost access, use, adaptation and redistribution by others with no restrictions.

Open Education Week can be followed on Twitter @OEWeek (<https://twitter.com/oeweek>)

These are the activities that the UAB libraries have scheduled for this edition:

Conference on teaching initiatives around Viquipèdia

This edition focuses on Viquiprojectos (<http://ca.wikipedia.org/wiki/Portal:Educaci%C3%B3/Exemples>) (teaching projects developed through Viquipèdia) as a teaching tool. The following conference participants will contribute with their experiences: Anna Costal and Enric Guaus (ESMUC), Lluís Madurell (Wikiars - Amical Wikimedia), Teresa Gea and Marius Monton (UAB Engineering), Xavier Dengra (UAB Biosciences) and Esther Solé (Amical Wikimedia Project Coordinator). Strengths and weaknesses (pros and cons) of teaching projects developed through Wikipedia will be analysed.

UAB library staff will contribute with a general state of the art of open teaching resources and what is now being done at the UAB. Information will also be given about the video on good practices for the preparation and dissemination of open educational materials.

Date: 5th March 2020

Time: 10-13 h.

Place: Degree room of the Faculty of Arts and Humanities
