Prerequisites
Apart from the general requirements for the MA admission, students taking this course should be interested in early modern literature. Basic notions will be introduced in the course so that students can engage in research in this area if they decide to do so.

Objectives and Contextualisation
This course traces throughout the eighteenth century what has come to be termed the 'rise' of the English Novel, offering both a chronological overview of the nature and concern of novelistic fiction during that century and complementing this with a critical evaluation of the many-sometimes conflictive-contemporary theories on the forces that gave shape to the growth of this now-dominating literary genre. Attention will also be given to the question of the canon, and how its construction, expectations and consequences have influenced and perhaps obscured a more balanced and open-minded understanding of writers conventionally seen as less central to the consolidation of the Novel, very particularly a number of women writers active in the last part of the century.

Skills
- Analyse and synthesise information at an advanced level.
- Analyse the relationship between factors, processes or phenomena in the acquisition of English as a second language, its learning and teaching methods, and its literature, history and culture.
- Apply methodological knowledge of statistical analysis and data generation, treatment and codification of multilingual databases, analysis of literary texts, etc. to research.
- Communicate the knowledge acquired and the contributions of ones research correctly, accurately and clearly both orally and in writing.
- Critically argue, issue judgements and present ideas on the basis of the analysis of information originating from scientific production in these areas.
- Develop autonomous learning skills applicable to the research process.
- Distinguish and contrast between the different methodological and theoretical models applied to the academic study of the acquisition, teaching and use of English as a second language in multilingual and multicultural contexts, literary studies and cultural studies.
- Show respect towards the opinions, values, behaviours and/or practices of others.
- Use the English language for academic and professional purposes related to research into the acquisition, teaching and use of English as a second language in multilingual and multicultural contexts, literary studies and cultural studies.

Methodology

There will be a series of lectures to introduce theoretical basic concepts, class discussions on set readings, as well as practical cases and exercises.

The subject is run as a seminar and its sessions will be based on in-class discussions of the texts. There will also be presentations, an in-class exercise and several assignments which will be returned with comments and suggestions. We expect students to:

Read all the texts (both primary and secondary sources)

Participate in class discussions

Prepare the activities properly, using bibliography and reliable websites.
