

Employment, Gender and the Social Organisation of Care

Code: 44036
ECTS Credits: 6

Degree	Type	Year	Semester
4313228 Social Policy, Employment and Welfare	OB	0	2

Contact

Name: Pilar Carrasquer Oto
Email: Pilar.Carrasquer@uab.cat

Use of languages

Principal working language: spanish (spa)

Prerequisites

Objectives and Contextualisation

The main objective of this module is to ensure the acquisition of competencies and skills necessary for understanding the total social organization of work and care, the unequal distribution of this work between different social groups and the main policies performed to try to alleviate gender inequality. This knowledge must encourage the necessary degree of expertise to address the different realities that present the work and welfare in European societies. This knowledge must encourage the necessary degree of expertise to address the different realities that present the social organization of care work and welfare in European societies.

Content

1. Conceptual framework: Work, time and gender.
2. The twofold presence of women.
3. Work time and life time: the work-time relationship in Daily Life
4. Care work: from the private sphere to the public sphere
5. The social organization of care: care and welfare models in Europe
6. The challenges of Equality Policies
7. Changes in the sexual division of labor: new subjects, new realities
8. Towards a new social organization of care