Use of Languages

Principal working language: spanish (spa)
Some groups entirely in English: No
Some groups entirely in Catalan: No
Some groups entirely in Spanish: Yes

Prerequisites

Students must have passed 120 credits at the time of enrollment in the subject.

Students must have completed a pre-registration process (May), because this process gives access to enrollment. Therefore, students who have not completed this previous process will not be able to attend the subject. In the same way, students must enrol in the subject before beginning their work with the collaborating entity.

The hours of completion of the practices must be compatible with the academic, training and representation activity and students' participation at the University. The schedules will be established according to the characteristics of the practices and according to the availabilities of the collaborating entity and prior agreement with the tutor. This schedule must be respected during the development of the practices.

By obtaining the minimum of credits in basic training subjects and the compulsory ones of the second and third course, students enrolled in External Practicum have demonstrated to have acquired the basic competences and they will be able to express themselves orally and in writing.

Objectives and Contextualisation

The subject of External Practicum has the objective of completing the theoretical and practical learning of the students, in order to provide a complete and integral training; External Practicum is regulated by the rules on rights and duties of the students and the commitments of the collaborating entity.

The completion of the external practices and their passing guarantee:

- The contact of the students, during their formative period, with an interesting workplace;

Content

For the completion of the external practices, it is a prerequisite that the UAB has signed an Educational Cooperation Agreement with its own university or with the collaborating entities.

In addition, specific agreements for educational cooperation will be signed to establish the regulatory framework for relations among each of the students enrolled, the collaborating entity and the UAB.

The framework of curricular external practices includes two modalities:

A. External practices subscribed between an external collaborating entity and the UAB.

In these cases the UAB signs a framework agreement for educational cooperation with the external collaborating entity and so many specific agreements for educational cooperation as students enrolled in this modality. It is an indispensable requirement that on the date of signature of the specific agreement, students certify the subscription to an accident insurance policy. School insurance is not enough. The complementary policy contracted by the UAB is valid and the student can choose it when registering. It is also compulsory to contract a civil liability policy.

B. External practices within the scope of the UAB, within Research Projects linked to the Department of Spanish Philology established by signing a Resolution between the coordinator of external practices and the UAB.

External practices outside the Department of Spanish Philology can be carried out during the first semester (September-January) or the second semester (February-May). Practices are not offered during the summer months.

The list of practices positions offered below works as a guide and responds to the offer of previous courses.

Modality A. External practices subscribed between an external collaborating entity and the UAB.

Project name: DELECTATECH

Tutor: Xavier Mallol

Description of the project: Delectatech (Delecta Technologies S.L.) is a company that offers tools to catering services that make possible the processing of a large amount of data about Foodservice that are humanly impossible to analyze in real time.

Detailed content of the practices:

- Assistance in the learning of a Natural Language Processing system that uses semantic recognition to extract text knowledge related to catering services and gastronomy.
- Creation of a lexicon to be able to perform sentiment analysis on comments from diners.
- All the tasks will be done on a language (Spanish). Knowledge of French and Italian will be highly valued.

Spanish Culture (UAB, June 2020) and the III International Symposium "Current Feminisms: Critical Approaches and Teachers (University of Alcalá, July 2020).

4) Dissemination tasks: update of the GEF website and its Facebook page.

Semester: First and Second Semester

Nº. max. places: 4 places

Project name: Transatlantic Identity Negotiations: Spain-France-Mexico (1843-1863) NIT (1843-1863)

Tutor: Montse Amores and Beatriz Ferrús

Project description: transatlantic identity negotiations: Spain-France-Mexico (1843-1863)

NIT (1843-1863) is a research project that aims to study the elaboration, dissemination and use of reciprocal national images of Spain and Mexico between 1843 and 1863, since the beginning of the diplomatic alliance between France and Spain until the taking of Mexico City by troops of the second French Empire.

Its main interest is the analysis of national images of Spain and Mexico in the periodical press and their corresponding specular reflections, a process that France exercised as mediator due to its political, economic and cultural hegemony. From their subordinate position, Spaniards and Mexicans tried to banish stereotypes forged in previous decades through a proposal more attached to reality or through new statements.

NIT 1843-1863 is an interdisciplinary project of history of literature (Spanish literature and Hispanic-American literature), history (political, diplomatic, economic, social, of ideas), and cultural studies, in which the interdisciplinary research carried out is enriched and completed with different methodologies. The aim of history is to define a solid historical context that facilitates the analytical study of written identity production and its reception, but at the same time the results of this analysis will modify and outline the general historical framework, in a feedback that constitutes the very essence of the project.

It is assumed that there is already a previous image of Spain and Mexico in Europe, for which there is abundant bibliography produced in recent decades. It is proposed to study again the images, those created from Mexico on Spain and from Spain on Mexico, in a continuous dialogue with the discourses of the countries of arrival.

Detailed content of the practices: The student of the Practices must perform the following activities:

- An introductory session to the historical context and acquisition of the essential skills in the use of tools related to digital magazines.
- Emptying and searching of essential texts of the periodical press for the study of images from Mexico and Spain.
- Editing of the selected texts: setting of the text (adequate) and annotation.
- Students who enroll in the first semester will collaborate in the organization of a Research Symposium of the team.

Semester: First and Second Semester

Nº. max. places: 4 places

Linguistics

Name of the project: Group of Lexicography and Diachrony

Tutor: Gloria Claveria

Project description: The fundamental objective of the group is the historical study of the lexicon, lexicography and the application of new technologies in philological studies.

Detailed content of the practices:

The students will carry out tasks related to the search of the «Group of lexicography and diachrony» and the development of computer tools applied to the historical study of language, especially the lexical documentation and the study of the aforementioned DRAE editions. The work program that is proposed consists of:

BLOCK 1: Introductory period.

Students will be trained in the field of application of computer tools in the history of the Spanish language. They will hold a training session during which they will be introduced to databases with which they will be working (Portal of Spanish lexicon: www.portaldelexico.es). In addition, students should carry out basic readings on research projects and contribute to the collection and bibliographic search related to the research lines mentioned.

BLOCK 2: Practice period

Project "Historia interna del Diccionario de la lengua castellana de la Real Academia Española (1817-1852)": various data extraction tasks of the aforementioned dictionaries will be developed and the data will be introduced into the Portal of Spanish lexicon.

Project for the study of Spanish in Catalonia (18th and 19th centuries) within the framework of the international Charter network: several notarial texts (testaments) will be published, following the standards and protocols of the Charter network (<http://www.redcharta.es>), namely, facsimile, paleographic and critical edition.

BLOCK 3: Period of data mining and evaluation

The evaluation of the practices carried out will consist of the writing of a memory (5 pages) that the students will deliver to the tutor or the accomplishment of a small investigation, as a result of the tasks developed.

Semester: First and second semester

Nº. max. places: 4 places

Name of the project: Transmedia Catalonia

Tutor: M. Jesús Machuca

Project description: Transmedia Catalonia focuses on the acoustic analysis of the resources that speakers use in a spontaneous communicative situation and it is based on the precise segmentation of the signal, in order to know which are the elements useful to identify the speaker.

Detailed content of the practices:

- Learning the segmentation procedure with a specific program of speech treatment.
- Isolating audio fragments under study and appropriately labeling the files.
- Establishing some criteria for the annotation of the aforementioned phenomena.
- Identifying these phenomena in the signal.

Semester: Second semester

Nº. max. places: 2 places

Name of the project: NEOLCYT Group

Tutor: Cecilio Garriga

Description of the project: The NEOLCYT group is dedicated to the study of the scientific and technical lexicon of the 18th and 19th centuries, an object of study interlinking philology with the history of science and technology. The ultimate goal of NEOLCYT is the development of a historical dictionary of voices of science and technology of this period (DHEMICYT).

Detailed content of the practices:

- Reading and commentary on some fundamental texts for the study of the language of science and technology, in order to acquire initial training and collaborate in the tasks of the NEOLCYT group. Searching for bibliographic information in a corpus of nineteenth-century science and technology texts.
- Screening of texts and selection of terms studied in the corpus of studies of the NEOLCYT group. Writing of DHEMICYT lexicographical cards, starting from the dictionary floor.
- Active participation in the biweekly tutoring meetings that the group leader will carry out with the interns, in order to impart some theoretical knowledge on the subject and to exchange impressions on the learning difficulties that may arise.
- Integration in the activities of the NEOLCYT Group and participation in the work sessions and discussion seminars.
- Preparation of a report about the training activities carried out during the period of the External Practicum.

Semester: First semester or second semester

Nº. max. places: 2 places

Name of the project: CENTER OF THEORICAL LINGUISTICS (CLT)

Tutor: Ángel Gallego

Project description: The group is devoted to grammatical theory, in a broad sense of the term (phonology, morphology, lexicology, syntax and semantics). Its orientation is fundamentally the study of the universal properties of language and the identification of microvariation patterns among natural languages.

Detailed content of the practices:

1. Support tasks

Students will collaborate with the Technician of Support to the CLT Investigation with tasks such as:

- Updating of the website
- Preparation of documentation for project grant applications, internships, scholarships, memories, etc.
- Dissemination of the group, its projects and its publications.
- Organization of research activities (workshops, meetings, etc.)

2. Cataloging tasks

The CLT holds a database with articles, doctoral theses, dissertations, etc. For this, all the documents sent to us must be read, unified, classified and filed.

3. Periodic activities

Students can participate in the organization of seminars, courses and reading groups that are organized on a regular basis.

4. Editing tasks

Students will be able to develop editing tasks for the Isogloss magazine, a journal about Variation of Romance and Iberian languages (<http://revistes.uab.cat/isogloss>).

5. Teaching innovation tasks

Students will have the possibility of supporting teaching / methodological with Catalan/Spanish language subjects of any of the high school/secondary schools that have expressed their interest in collaborating with the CLT and the Competency-Oriented Grammar group (<http://www.edugroc.com>).

6. Support tasks, data entry and updating of the Syntactic Atlas of Spanish (Asin). Students will be able to work in the Spanish Syntactic Atlas (www.asines.org), a research project, with a collaboration agreement in force at the Royal Spanish Academy, developed by the CLT. The aim of the Asin is to study the syntactic variation of Spanish dialects, integrating a database and an online geolocation system.

Semester: First semester and second semester

Nº. max. places: 6 places (3 per semester)

Name of the project: MOOC course on "Correction, style and variations of the Spanish language"

Tutors: Santiago Alcoba and Cristina Buenafuentes

Project description: The objective of the practices is to systematically intervene and assist in different shifts of "Foros" working as a community manager of the MOOC course "Correction, style and variations of the Spanish language" on the Coursera platform.

Detailed content of the practices:

Previous preparation of the lessons and presentation of the contents of the MOOC course of "Correction, style and variations of the Spanish language", of presentation, program, and procedure as detailed in <https://www.coursera.org/learn/correccion-estilo-variaciones/home/welcome> the objective of the practices internship is to intervene and systematically attend different shifts of "Foros" working as a community manager of the MOOC course "Correction and style in Spanish" on the Coursera platform.

Practicas internship consists of ATTENDING DIFFERENT CHAT TURNS to the doubts and misunderstandings that may arise from the students (as of 05/12/2016: total visits, 41,618, active students, 9,982, and people who completed the course, lessons and evaluation exercises, 488) of a MOOC course that operates as follows: the course relies on 2 types of activities: lessons and control questionnaires.

The weekly lessons (3 units) are given in the form of ordinary text (about 20 pages each lesson), in the form of presentation and in the form of videos (each lesson is 20 minutes), in order to use the three formats and be able to realize in the text the schematism of presentations.

The working method will be EMPIRICAL and INDUCTIVE: a), observation and analysis of data; b), evaluation and argumentation of contrastive analyzes; c), generalization of proposals, language or use, according to previous analyzes and evaluations.

Specifically, the working methodology consists of answering the following questions in successive examples: 1st, What does such an example of such a text say in such a version? 2nd, What does it say, better, such another version of another year? 3rd, why? Contrastive analysis of the different data of the two versions. 4th, Which version is better? Argued evaluation. 5th, Why? Argued evaluation. 6th, What GENERALIZATION emerges? About the case, about the language, in order to us it.

Semester: First semester and second semester

Nº. max. places: 6 places

Project name: GEXEL

Tutor: Manuel Aznar

Description of the project: The main objective of GEXEL is the reconstruction of the historical, cultural and literary memory of the Spanish exile of 1939. It tries to recover the cultural and literary heritage of exiled writers, condemned to oblivion by the Francoist policy and who do not appear in public libraries, publishing catalogs or bookstores.

Detailed content of the practices:

- Preparing a monographic work about an author, work or subject that has links with the republican exile literature of 1939.
- Attending and participating in the monthly sessions of the GEXEL Seminar.
- Attending and collaborating in the activities developed by GEXEL, during the second semester of the academic year 2016-2017, namely, to Conferences, Congresses or Colloquiums.

- Realizing a relevant book review on the subject.
- Oral presentation during a session of the GEXEL Seminar of its monographic work.
- Presentation of a written report about your experience.

Semester: Second semester

Nº. max. places: 3 places

Methodology

The teaching will be distributed as follows:

- Contact hours at the company site, institution or host entity,
- The hours dedicated to the company should be approximately 135. This corresponds to approximately 45 days of 3 hours (morning or afternoon) or 27 days of 5 hours (intensive formula),
- hours for the preparation of the final report,
- hours for intermediate tutorials with the coordinator of the subject and
- eventually, theoretical sessions (could include in-person classes, specialized courses (eg course in occupational risks) or training for labor insertion organized by the Faculty with the collaboration of the Servei d'Ocupabilitat.

The student will have an academic tutor from the University (the practices coordinator of the Department of Spanish Philology) and a tutor from the collaborating entity, with professional experience and knowledge necessary to be able to practice as a tutor.

The practices coordinator of the Department of Spanish Philology will allocate the places offered to the students enrolled according to the average grade of the academic record, if the demand exceeds the number of places offered. Likewise, the tutor of the collaborating entity may not accept the tutoring of the students' practices and inform them about the coordination of the the practices. The coordinator will deal with the negotiation, formalization and management of the agreements that regulate external practices with institutions, organizations and companies. It will also guide the student both in the process of allocation of place and during the implementation of practices. The coordinator is also responsible for introducing students to their tutor in the institution where they will carry out the professional practices, and, once the internship has been completed, will evaluate their performance in accordance with the report delivered and the tutor's report.

Assessment

At the end of the practices the following reports will be delivered to the academic tutor of the Spanish Philology Department:

- The tutor of the collaborating entity will produce a final report, with the number of hours completed and the evaluations of the aspects related to the generic and specific competences established by the training project (within a maximum period of 15 days and according to the established model). This report will have a weight of 70% of the student's final grade.
- The student will prepare a final report with the assessment of the tasks and knowledge and skills acquired, in relation to university studies. The delivery of this report by the student is an essential requirement for the final evaluation. This report will constitute 20% of the student's final grade.
- The coordinator of the EP of the Department of Spanish Philology will carry out two mandatory tutorials (face-to-face and/or virtual) during the development of the practices. These tutorials will constitute 10% of the final grade of the student body.

Re-evaluation is not allowed for external practices. Students who communicates to the coordinator their intention to leave the subject or when students have missed 10% of the contact hours stated in the agreement will be graded with a "Not Evaluable". If this is not the case, the grade will be considered by both the tutor and the coordinator.

Honor enrollments will not be assigned. The highest rating is 10 (excellent).
