Objectives and Contextualisation

The aim of the Masters Dissertation is to verify the acquirement of the master's associated competencies.

Competences

- Analyse research results to obtain new products or processes, assessing their industrial and commercial viability with a view to transferring them to society.
- Apply validated models of content analysis, policy evaluation, audience response surveys and analysis of audiovisual and advertising sector industries.
- Choose, design and apply methodological strategies for scientific research in audiovisual communication and product development.
- Communicate and justify conclusions clearly and unambiguously to both specialist and non-specialist audiences.
- Conceive, plan, and lead academic and/or professional research projects in audiovisual and advertising communication, applying criteria of quality, equality and ethical and social responsibility.
- Continue the learning process, to a large extent autonomously.
- Critically analyse the theories and analysis models of audiovisual and advertising communication.
- Demonstrate an attitude awake, innovative and analytical in relation to the research questions
- Identify and understand the main phenomena that affect industries, policies, audiovisual and advertising content and their reception.
- Integrate knowledge and use it to make judgements in complex situations, with incomplete information, while keeping in mind social and ethical responsibilities.
- Plan tasks in accordance with the human resources, tools and time available so as to optimise performance.
- Seek out information in the scientific and technological context and learn practical ICT skills.
- Take decisions and accept responsibility for their consequences.
- Use acquired knowledge as a basis for originality in the application of ideas, often in a research context.

Learning Outcomes

1. Analyse research results to obtain new products or processes, assessing their industrial and commercial viability with a view to transferring them to society.
2. Apply analysis models to the phenomenon studied in the master's dissertation.
3. Choose the appropriate methodology to meet the master's dissertation objectives.

13. Solve problems in new or little-known situations within broader (or multidisciplinary) contexts related to the field of study.
14. Take decisions and accept responsibility for their consequences.

Content

The Masters Dissertation (MA Dissertation) is an autonomous academic paper that consists of the conduction of an integral research project within any area of the politics, industry, markets or the making, production, distribution or consume of the audio-visual and advertising contents.

The contents of the Masters Dissertation are agreed between the tutor and the student.

Methodology

The extension of the MA Dissertation (including the bibliography) will be from 12.000 to 18.000 words. The paper can be written in Spanish, Catalan or English.

A minimum of three on-site tutoring sessions should be carried out and the card of tutorships should be signed in every occasion (both for the student and the tutor). This card should be obligatorily delivered with a written copy of the MA Dissertation the day of the deadline to the Coordinator of the Master. Exceptionally, and with a previous approval of the Coordinator, a mandatory tutorship could be carried out online. In addition to the fixed tutorships, extraordinary tutorships can be arranged.

Assessment

The MA Dissertations will be presented in a public event in front of an examining board made up of three members of the teaching staff of the Audio-visual Communication and Advertising Department. The MA Dissertations will be sent in PDF format to the Master's Coordination following the indications. In addition to the PDF file, it must be delivered a printed copy of the paper to the Master's Coordination and the card of tutorships.

The evaluation criteria of the paper will be based on:

1. The originality and opportunity of the proposed subject
2. The viability of the research questions and hypothesis
3. The adequacy of the proposed methodology to the set objectives
4. The comprehension of the main background of the set theoretical framework
5. The description of results on the basis of the proposed analysis
6. The ability to describe the research contributions in the conclusions
7. The demonstration of oral and written expression skills
8. The use of bibliography sources and the citation's suitability
