Objectives and Contextualisation

It is a subject of the first year, second semester, of a basic nature. The subject is contextualized within the group of business subjects that are taught in the degree of labor relations, necessary for a correct development of the subjects of the degree. The subject of accounting approaches them to the economic and financial reality of the companies and familiarizes them with the documents that the companies elaborate and from which decisions are made.

From this contextualization the formative objectives of the subject are:

Know and understand what is the financial information that companies have to present after the entry into force, in 2008, of the New General Accounting Plan.

Learn to interpret the results obtained in the analysis.

Learn to make decisions based on the results.

Methodology

The teaching methodology and evaluation could undergo some modification depending on the restrictions to the presence that imposed the sanitary authorities.

We will apply a methodology of the Bologna environment, where students will be very active in the learning process, favoring the generation of ideas, knowledge and skills, the resolution of conflicts and the development of autonomy capacities.

To implement this new method we will use the following types of sessions:

Master sessions where the teacher will teach the basic knowledge of the subject

Practical classes: where the student analyzes with the teacher the financial status of the companies to be able to make a diagnosis about them.

Presentation of works: where the student (by groups) exhibits in the classroom the development and conclusions of a work of analysis of financial statements

Assessment

The evaluation of the knowledge of the subject will be based on the following method:

a) -The individual performance of two written tests (type test) during the school year and the preparation and presentation of small parts of analysis of a company that will be done as a group.

Test type tests (topics 1-2) 15%

Test type test (topics 3-4) 15%

Case study (group) 15% practices 10%

b) - the individual completion of a global final test of all knowledge (theoretical-practical, non-test type) 45% (a minimum of 3.5 points out of 10 is necessary to be able to make the average with the rest of the notes) and a 5 to pass the subject)

The students, that once we have weighted the previous qualifications of the a) and b) obtain a final grade between 3 and 4.9, will have the possibility of doing a revaluation test. With this test the students can continue qualified as suspended (if they have not passed it) or if they pass the test, they will have a final grade of 5.

Only the student who has not presented anything in the whole subject is considered not presented

Fraudulent conduct:

"A student who copied or tries to copy an exam will get a 0 in the subject and will lose the re-evaluation right. A student who presented a practice in which there are signs of plagiarism or who can't justify the arguments of his practice will obtain a 0 and will receive a warning. In case of reiteration of the conduct, the student will suspend the assignment (0) and will lose the right to the recovery. "
