Methodology

The course will focus in particular on:

1. understanding of written texts and oral and audiovisual documents.
2. the practice of oral and written expression techniques.

The student will be proposed for a number of activities and tasks:

- Individual works (grammatical exercises, lexicon sheets, written productions: the argumentative text)
- Group work (simulations, comprehension activities, writing, oral exhibitions, etc...)
- Class exchanges (debates, presentation of texts, representation of dialogues, etc...)
- Grammar, oral / written expression and oral/ written comprehension controls

Self-employed work: notebook exercises, test preparation, reading a book, writing, searching for information on the internet...

The following aspects will be evaluated:

- To express yourself orally in a fluid way on a given topic in the context of an oral presentation, a debate, a dialogue, where you must defend a point of view
- Writing a coherent text
- Being able to reflect on the same learning, to resort to learning strategies
- Being able to apply the knowledge acquired in class: the transition from passive knowledge to the active use of this knowledge.

Assessment

Assessment is continuous. Students must provide evidence of their progress by completing tasks and tests. Task deadlines will be indicated in the course schedule on the first day of class.

Related matters

The above information on assessment, assessment activities and their weighting is merely a guide. The subject's lecturer will provide full information when teaching begins.

Review

When publishing final marks prior to recording them on students' transcripts, the lecturer will provide written notification of a date and time for reviewing assessment activities. Students must arrange reviews in agreement with the lecturer.

Missed/failed assessment activities

Students may retake assessment activities they have failed or compensate for any they have missed, provided that those they have actually performed account for a minimum of 66.6% (two thirds) of the subject's final mark and that they have a weighted average mark of at least 3.5. Under no circumstances may an assessment activity worth 100% of the final mark be retaken or compensated for.

The lecturer will inform students of the procedure involved, in writing, when publishing final marks prior to recording them on transcripts. The lecturer may set one assignment per failed or missed assessment activity or a single assignment to cover a number of such activities.

Classification as "not assessable"

In the event of the assessment activities a student has performed accounting for just 25% or less of the subject's final mark, their work will be classified as "not assessable" on their transcript.

Misconduct in assessment activities

Students who engage in misconduct (plagiarism, copying, personation, etc.) in an assessment activity will receive a mark of "0" for the activity in question. In the case of misconduct in more than one assessment activity, the students involved will be given a final mark of "0" for the subject.

Students may not retake assessment activities in which they are found to have engaged in misconduct. Plagiarism is considered to mean presenting all or part of an author's work, whether published in print or in digital format, as one's own, i.e. without citing it. Copying is considered to mean reproducing all or a substantial part of another student's work. In cases of copying in which it is impossible to determine which of two students has copied the work of the other, both will be penalised.
