Prerequisites

Specifically, this subject requires prior knowledge obtained through the following subjects: Language I and Language II.

Objectives and Contextualisation

The objective of this subject is, on the one hand, to consolidate the basic language competences acquired through Language I and II so that students can begin to apply them; and, on the other hand, to continue to develop knowledge and understanding of the graphic, morphological, lexical, semantic and syntactic structure of the Japanese language (equivalent to A2.1). To that end, it is important that students have assimilated the content they worked on in the previous subjects (Language I and II), knowledge of which is necessary to continue learning on the degree programme (A2.1; A2.2; B1).

Competences

East Asian Studies
- Apply knowledge of East Asian culture in order to be able to communicate.
- Developing self-learning strategies.
- Ensuring the quality of one’s own work.
• Produce oral texts in one of the languages of East Asia.
• Respecting the diversity and plurality of ideas, people and situations.
• Solving problems of intercultural communication.
• Understand oral texts in one of the languages of East Asia.
• Understand texts written in one of the languages of East Asia.
• Write texts in one of the languages of East Asia.

Learning Outcomes

1. Apply knowledge of lexis, morphosyntax, texts, rhetoric and linguistic variation.
2. Apply strategies to produce oral texts for different contexts and for specific communicative purposes.
3. Apply strategies to produce written texts for different contexts and for specific communicative purposes.
4. Apply strategies to understand oral texts from various different contexts.
5. Apply strategies to understand written texts from various different contexts.
6. Apply strategies towards acquiring knowledge of East Asian culture in order to be able to communicate.
7. Deal with interferences between the working languages.
9. Ensuring the quality of one’s own work.
10. Identify the need to activate knowledge of East Asian culture in order to be able to communicate.
11. Integrate cultural knowledge to solve problems in communication.
12. Possess knowledge of East Asian culture in order to be able to communicate.
13. Produce oral texts for different contexts and for specific communicative purposes.

18. Solving problems of intercultural communication.
19. Understand the communicative intent and the meaning of oral texts from various different contexts.
20. Understand the communicative intent and the meaning of written texts from various different contexts.

Content

- Continue enhancing the knowledge and understanding of the morphological, lexical, semantic, and syntactic structure of the Japanese language.

- Know variations in the Japanese language (written language/spoken language; men’s speech/women’s speech).

- Enhance the basic linguistic and cultural knowledge necessary in various everyday scenarios (describe a state, ask for or provide a detailed explanation, ask for advice or instructions, make excuses, etc.).

- Enhance vocabulary in various subject areas.

- Understand short and simple instructions/questions and answer them using simple constructions or affirmations.

- Verbally express intentions, assumptions, purposes, etc., in various everyday scenarios.

- Read short and simple didactic texts and written material from everyday life, such as notices, posters, etc., to extract essential information. Read more complex and extensive texts with the help of a dictionary.

- Write short texts in formal or informal styles explaining a certain topic (e.g., my day-to-day life; my hometown etc.) or describing a personal profile, a place, etc.

- Students will learn some 125 new kanji
Methodology

Students will work on the grammatical content of Minna no nihongo II, from lesson 26 to 37.

To achieve the established objectives, this subject mainly involves practical classes. Each unit, in principle, is organised into three steps, so that students can gradually develop their language skills:

1. Introduction
2. Practice
3. Development

Activities

Learning activities are organised into three categories based on the degree of student autonomy involved:

- Directed activities:
  The essential points of each unit's content will be explained and different types of exercises carried out.

- Supervised activities:
  Supervised activities include the tasks that students carry out outside the classroom. All these tasks must be handed in to the lecturer before the specified deadline. No tasks will be accepted after the deadline.

- Autonomous activities:
  Autonomous activities include preparing new material (carefully reading instructions, looking up the meaning of new vocabulary, etc.), doing exercises, and reviewing previous content.

This subject also includes the study of kanji as an autonomous activity, although classroom time will very occasionally be spent looking at kanji that require additional explanation. Students will work on the content of Basic Kanji Book vol. 2.

Assessment

Assessment is continuous. Students must provide evidence of their progress by completing tasks and tests. Task deadlines will be indicated in the course schedule on the first day of class.

Assessment activities

Fulfillment of the subject's objectives will be assessed as follows:

- Quizzes (Grammar and vocabulary: 60%, Kanji: 20%): 80%
- Exercises (written exercises:10%, oral exercises:10%): 20%

Quizzes on grammar and vocabulary and kanji will be conducted after every three and two lessons, respectively.

Related matters

The above information on assessment, assessment activities and their weighting is merely a guide. The subject's lecturer will provide full information when teaching begins.

Review

When publishing final marks prior to recording them on students' transcripts, the lecturer will provide written notification of a date and time for reviewing assessment activities. Students must arrange reviews in agreement with the lecturer.

Missed/failed assessment activities

Students may retake assessment activities they have failed or compensate for any they have missed, provided that those they have actually performed account for a minimum of 66.6% (two thirds) of the subject's final mark and that they have a weighted average mark of at least 3.5. Under no circumstances may an assessment activity worth 100% of the final mark be retaken or compensated for.

The lecturer will inform students of the procedure involved, in writing, when publishing final marks prior to recording them on transcripts. The lecturer may set one assignment per failed or missed assessment activity or a single assignment to cover a number of such activities.

Classification as "not assessable"

In the event of the assessment activities a student has performed accounting for just 25% or less of the subject's final mark, their work will be classified as "not assessable" on their transcript.

Misconduct in assessment activities

Students who engage in misconduct (plagiarism, copying, personation, etc.) in an assessment activity will receive a mark of "0" for the activity in question. In the case of misconduct in more than one assessment activity, the students involved will be given a final mark of "0" for the subject.

Students may not retake assessment activities in which they are found to have engaged in misconduct. Plagiarism is considered to mean presenting all or part of an author's work, whether published in print or in digital format, as one's own, i.e. without citing it. Copying is considered to mean reproducing all or a substantial part of another student's work. In cases of copying in which it is impossible to determine which of two students has copied the work of the other, both will be penalised.
