Methodology

The protagonist in the process of learning is the student and it was under this premise planned methodology of the subject as shown in the table.

Our teaching approach and assessment procedures may be altered if public health authorities impose new restrictions

Activities

Title	Hours	ECTS	Learning Outcomes
Type: Directed
Big group face to face	15	0.6	1, 5, 4, 6
Seminars	30	1.2	1, 2, 3, 6
Type: Supervised
Supervised activities	30	1.2	1, 3
Type: Autonomous
Autonomous activities	75	3	5, 4, 6

Assessment

The evaluation of the subject will be carried out throughout the course through the activities shown on the grid.

In order to apply the percentages that appear in the grid and pass the course, each of the following evidences must be passed with a minimum of 5 points out of 10:

- The final (individual) test scheduled on the 11th of June 2021, or, if you have failed it, the re-assessment test scheduled on the 25th of June 2021.
- The individual work on oneself management (the exact date will be provided at the beginning of the subject and, if applicable, the date of re-assessment also)
- The specialization work (team work) (the exact date will be provided at the beginning of the subject and, if applicable, the date of re-assessment also)

Class attendance is mandatory: the student must participate in a minimum of 80% of the classes, otherwise it will be considered non-assessable. A student who has not submitted any of the three assessment tests mentioned above will also be considered non-assessable.

The evaluation results will be announced during the three weeks following their delivery. The results of the evaluation will be discussed in large groups and individually in the tutorial schedule if necessary.

In all the activities (individual and in group) the linguistic correction, the writing and the formal aspects of presentation will be considered. Students must be able to express themselves fluently and correctly and must show a high degree of comprehension of academic texts. An activity can be returned (not evaluated) or failed if the teacher considers that the student does not meet these requirements.

Written evidences must cite the sources in the text and the final bibliography following the APA regulations (2010.6ª version).

In addition to all the above, to pass this subject it is essential to show a behavior compatible with the educational profession, such as: active listening, respect, participation, cooperation, empathy, kindness, punctuality, not judging, discussing, making appropriate use of electronic devices (mobile, computer, etc.).

Copying or plagiarism, in any kind of evaluation test, is a crime and will be penalized with a 0 as a grade of the subject losing the possibility to be re-assessed, whether it is an individual or work group (in this last case, all members of the group will have a 0). If during the realization of an individual work in class, the teacher considers that a student is trying to copy or some type of document or device not authorized by the teacher is discovered, he/she will also be graded with a 0 without re-assessment option. A work, activity or exam is "copied" when it reproduces all or a significant part of the work of another classmate. A work or activity is "plagiarized" when a part of a text by an author is presented as its own without citing the sources, regardless of whether the original sources are on paper or in digital format.

Our teaching approach and assessment procedures may be altered if public health authorities impose new restrictions on public gatherings for COVID-19

Assessment Activities
