Content

In recent decades, democracy as a political system has gone from its moment of maximum expansion (as a result of the end of the Cold War) to a moment of crisis.

We will analyze the fundamental elements of democratic systems, both at the theoretical and practical level. We will also analyze the risk factors for the maintenance of democracies. The subject will deal with the following topics:

1. The foundations of democracy
2. The expansion of democratic systems in the late twentieth century
3. The challenges of democracy: globalization
4. The challenges of democracy: the crisis of 2008
5. The evolution of democratic systems: the indices of democracy
6. Political culture and democratic health
7. Political competence and democracy
8. System response and democracy
9. Is the new nationalism a danger to democracy?
10. What a democracy in what world

Methodology

The sessions of the subject are divided into three types: theoretical classes on the contents of the subject, text classes and practical classes.

Assessment

The evaluation of the subject will consist of writing three short (one page) text comments on the topic, which will be

The texts on which the comments will be made are part of the bibliography of the subject (book chapters or articles)

In addition, students will be asked to write an original work on some aspect of the subject, which must be delivered at the end of the semester.

To pass the subject it is necessary to pass both the text comments and the final work.

In accordance with article 117.2 of the UAB Academic Regulations, the assessment of repeat students may consist of a single synthesis test. Repeating students who wish to take advantage of this possibility will need to contact the teacher at the beginning of the course.
