Prerequisites

This is an obligatory subject for the Literature and Culture track of the UAB's Official Master's Degree in Advanced English Studies. Students admitted onto the MA will therefore have fulfilled the initial requirements.

Objectives and Contextualisation

This course aims to illustrate how literary theory is applied to the nineteenth-century novel, and specifically how theory engages with the controversial notion of adultery and marriage, issues of great concern to Victorian society.

In addition, this year the course also focuses on childhood.

The course also aims to provide a fuller understanding of the nineteenth-century novel, for two main reasons. First, for its focus on the modern institutions of life which theory has taken a deep interest in, such as romance, marriage, the family or the nation-state; second, the nineteenth-century novel not only represents one of the so-called "golden ages" of English literature, but it is also the genre that all critical schools have arguably felt the need to analyse in particular depth (as, indeed, is the C19 as a historical period), plausibly because of the fundamental role that this genre and this century play in the understanding of contemporary literature.

Competences

- Analyse and synthesise information at an advanced level.
- Analyse the relationship between factors, processes or phenomena in the acquisition of English as a second language, its learning and teaching methods, and its literature, history and culture.
- Apply methodological knowledge of statistical analysis and data generation, treatment and codification of multilingual databases, analysis of literary texts, etc. to research.
- Communicate the knowledge acquired and the contributions of ones research correctly, accurately and clearly both orally and in writing.
- Critically argue, issue judgements and present ideas on the basis of the analysis of information originating from scientific production in these areas.
- Develop autonomous learning skills applicable to the research process.

- Distinguish and contrast between the different methodological and theoretical models applied to the academic study of the acquisition, teaching and use of English as a second language in multilingual and multicultural contexts, literary studies and cultural studies.
- Show respect towards the opinions, values, behaviours and/or practices of others.
- Use the English language for academic and professional purposes related to research into the acquisition, teaching and use of English as a second language in multilingual and multicultural contexts, literary studies and cultural studies.

Content

The course comprises three units. Students must obtain and read the editions indicated.

Part one: Charles Dickens, David Copperfield (Norton Critical Edition, ed. Jerome H. Buckley).

Part two: George Eliot, The Mill on the Floss (Norton Critical Edition, ed. Carole T. Christ).

Part three: Children's literature. During the first few weeks of the semester, students will choose an appropriate text.

Methodology

1 ECTS credit = 25 teaching hours > 9 credits = 225 hours.

The approach is basically practical, focussing on how approaches such as formalism, Marxism, feminism, psychoanalysis (to name only a few schools) have studied and discussed fiction, and how-in light of this-readings of both fiction and critical material are empowered.

Assessment

In the event that tests or exams cannot be taken onsite, they will be adapted to an online format made available through the UAB's virtual tools (original weighting will be maintained). Homework, activities and class participation will be carried out through forums, wikis and/or discussion on Teams, etc. Lecturers will ensure that students are able to access these virtual tools, or will offer them feasible alternatives.

General Requirements:

1. To read thoroughly, methodically and critically.
2. To have a solid working knowledge of the major ambits of literary theory and their practical application to literary criticism.
3. For the works studied, to have a grasp of the novels' reception from their date of publication to the present day.
4. To show sufficient knowledge of the relevant social and historical context.
5. To be familiar with the life and works of the authors outside the text we are studying.

Specific Assessment Activities:

1. Course paper (50% of the overall final grade). You will be required to write an academic paper following the basic requirements of postgraduate research.
2. Short assignments (25% of the overall final grade).
3. Participation, and oral presentation (25% of the overall final grade). The presentation is delivered in lecture-like format to the whole class. Subjects will be agreed on during the course, but will usually be related to the general area of Victorian culture that are not directly covered by the course. Presentations are NOT given on the course authors or their works, as these are dealt with in the lectures and the course paper.
4. Active participation is both desirable and expected.

Reassessment:

Reassessment for this subject requires a content-synthesis test, for which the following conditions are applicable:

- The student must previously have submitted a minimum of two-thirds of the course-assessment items.
- The student must previously have obtained an average overall grade equal to or higher than 3.5.
- The student must previously have passed 75% of the subject's assessment requirements.
- The maximum grade than can be obtained through re-assessment is 5.0.

Not assessed

Students will obtain a Not assessed/Not submitted course grade unless they have submitted more than 50% of the assessment items.

Plagiarism:

In the event of a student committing any irregularity that may lead to a significant variation in the grade awarded to an assessment activity, the student will be given a zero for this activity, regardless of any disciplinary process that may take place. In the event of several irregularities in assessment activities of the same subject, the student will be given a zero as the final grade for this subject.

Bibliography

(For primary texts to be read during the course, please see "Continguts")

It is impractical to provide a short bibliography that covers the major areas and controversies. Instead, here is a list of ten classic works essential for understanding the Victorian novel and context. All items are in the UAB Humanities Library.

- Altick, Richard. Victorian People and Ideas.
- Flint, Kate. The Woman Reader 1837-1914.
- Gaskell, Elizabeth. The Life of Charlotte Brontë.
- Gilbert, Sandra and Gubar, Susan. The Madwoman in the Attic: The Woman Writer and the Nineteenth-Century Literary Imagination.
- Kaplan, Fred. Sacred Tears: Sentimentality in Victorian Literature.
- David Lodge, Language of Fiction: Essays in Criticism and Verbal Analysis of the English Novel
- Moretti, Franco. The Way of the World: The Bildungsroman in European Culture.
- Rivkin, Julie and Ryan, Michael. Literary Theory: An Anthology.
- Parrinder, Patrick. Nation and Novel: The English Novel from its Origins to the Present Day.
- Praz, Mario, The Hero in Eclipse in Victorian Fiction.
- Strachey, Lytton. Eminent Victorians.
- Thompson, F.M.L., The Rise of Respectable Society: A Social History of Victorian Britain: 1830-1900.
- Williams, Raymond. The English Novel from Dickens to Lawrence.

In addition, a very useful starting point is the Cambridge Companion series, which is available online. In this respect, of particular initial relevance are the following:

- The Cambridge Companion to Charles Dickens
- The Cambridge Companion to George Eliot
- The Cambridge Companion to Victorian Culture
- The Cambridge Companion to the Victorian Novel, Second Edition
- The Cambridge Companion to Victorian Women's Writing
