Objectives and Contextualisation

This subject is shared with the subject "Fonaments del Món modern" of the Humanities'Degree (1st year). In the Humanities and Musicology curricula, the subject serves to introduce the fundamental elements that must allow the student to contextualize the subjects on art, philosophy, music and literature of the period, as well as to introduce him to the methodology of historiographic work.

For this reason, the course aims to define the essential thematic features that make it possible to individualize the Modern Age with respect to the Medieval and Contemporary Ages, leaving for other subjects greater precision in the chronological sequencing of the phenomena that occurred between the 15th and 18th centuries.

Competences

Musicology

- Developing critical thinking and reasoning and communicating them effectively both in your own and other languages.
- Respecting the diversity and plurality of ideas, people and situations.
- Students must be capable of collecting and interpreting relevant data (usually within their area of study) in order to make statements that reflect social, scientific or ethical relevant issues.

- Students must develop the necessary learning skills to undertake further training with a high degree of autonomy.
- Students must have and understand knowledge of an area of study built on the basis of general secondary education, and while it relies on some advanced textbooks it also includes some aspects coming from the forefront of its field of study.

Learning Outcomes

1. Communicating in your mother tongue or other language both in oral and written form by using specific terminology and techniques of Historiography.
2. Contextualise historical processes and analyse them.
3. Critically analyse the past, the nature of historical discourse and the social function of historical criteria.
4. Developing historical analysis and synthesis skills.
5. Engaging in debates about historical facts respecting the other participants' opinions.
6. Identifying the context of the historical processes.
7. Identifying the main and secondary ideas and expressing them with linguistic correctness.
8. Identifying the specific methods of history and their relationship with the analysis of particular facts.
9. Interpret the plurality and heterogeneity of the cultural development of humanity.
10. Organising and planning the search of historical information.
11. Solving problems autonomously.
12. Using the characteristic computing resources of the field of History.
13. Working in teams respecting the other's points of view.

Content

1. Concepts of Early Modern History and "Ancien Régime".
 2. Sources for the study of the Early Modern History.
 3. The old demographic regime.
 4. Traditional agrarian systems.
 5. Manufactures.
 6. Trade.
 7. The society of the "Ancien Régime".
 8. Culture and mentalities in preindustrial societies: practices and representations.
 9. Political and social thought in the Modern Age: the modern state.
- In all these subjects, teachers will be sensitive to the gender perspective.

Methodology

The face-to-face activities will alternate with the activities that promote the autonomous learning of the student.

The face-to-face activities will include lectures and discussions in a large group or in a small group, as well as individual tutorials or in very small groups.

Autonomous learning will be carried out through the recommended readings and exercises, as well as by taking part in Moodle.

Annotation: Within the schedule set by the centre or degree programme, 15 minutes of one class will be reserved for students to evaluate their lecturers and their courses or modules through questionnaires.

Activities

Title	Hours	ECTS	Learning Outcomes
<hr/>
Type: Directed
Face-to-face classes	50	2	3, 1, 2, 6, 8, 9, 5, 13

Type: Supervised
Tutorials (individual or in small groups)	15	0.6	3, 11, 1, 4, 7, 10, 5, 13, 12
Type: Autonomous
Reading and exercises.	80.76	3.23	11, 1, 4, 6, 8, 7, 9, 10, 13, 12

Assessment

The subject will be evaluated through continuous assessment, with partial weighted grades on the final grade:

40%: exercises (summary, review, text commentary, practice ...).

60%: tests and exams (exam 1: 30%; exam 2: 30%).

VERY IMPORTANT NOTES

At the time of completion/delivery of each assessment activity, the teacher will inform (Moodle, SIA) of the procedure and date of revision of the grades.

The student will be classified as Non-evaluable when he has not delivered more than 30% of the evaluation activities.

In the written activities, spelling, syntactic or lexical errors are taken into account. The penalty can be between 0.1-0.2 points on the final grade for each mistake made. Repeated errors can discount.

In the event of a student committing any irregularity that may lead to a significant variation in the grade awarded to an assessment activity, the student will be given a zero for this activity, regardless of any disciplinary process that may take place. In the event of several irregularities in assessment activities of the same subject, the student will be given a zero as the final grade for this subject.

RECOVERY

The recovery will be held on the dates officially established by the Faculty. In no case may recovery be considered as a means of improving the qualification of the students that had already passed the subject in the normal process of continuous assessment. The maximum grade that can be obtained in the recovery is 5.0 ("Aprovat").

Only the test or written examinations are subjected to the recovery test.

The minimum grade to access to the recovery test is 3.5.

OTHER NOTES:

In the event that tests or exams can not be taken on site, they will be adapted to an online format made available through the UAB's virtual tools (original weighting will be maintained). Homework, activities and class participation will be carried out through forums, wikis and/or discussion on Teams, etc. Lecturers will ensure that students are able to access these virtual tools, or will offer them feasible alternatives.

Any particularity or exception to these rules must previously be approved by the teacher.

This textbook is specifically designed for students in the first courses of human science careers. It allows to fill the gap between the basic knowledge of Early Modern History acquired during Secondary Education and the highly specialized nature of the handbooks mentioned in the following "basic bibliography".
