Teaching Methodology

The German language skills (DaF) will be broadened and deepened, and the specific skills required for translation will be developed: On the one hand, the global competences and communicative skills of the C language, on the other hand, the special linguistic competences in German as a Working Language for Translation, with special emphasis on those which are of pragmatic, intercultural and contrastive (C-A) relevance for translation, heuristics or instruments for language learning (kulturpaarspezifischen pragmatischen Kompetenzen, Lernfertigkeiten, instrumentale Fertigkeiten).

With regard to the specific text competencies, the following will be dealt with - following the textual progression of the subjects of German C - in ITC4 especially classes and types of texts with the so-called German macrostructures: Deskriptive Texte (Objekt- und Prozessbeschreibung), Chroniken (Ergebnisbericht, Ereignisschilderung, Erlebniserzählung) and corresponding functions.

The nature of the subject is theoretical-practical. It will deal with the basics of textual analysis (linguistic and translation), reception and textual production in German. All knowledge, skills, strategies and activities of the subject will be developed through and by working with & on texts (standard models and current examples).

Training activities

With the exception of point f, the following chronological process applies in the processing of the above-mentioned types of texts:

- a. the development of strategies and methods of reading and textual comprehension;
- b. the development of strategies and methods of textual analysis (linguistics and grammar of text, translation analysis),
- c. the treatment of typical linguistic and intercultural (B-A) problems manifested in current texts, followed by grammar and/or performative tasks or exercises or corresponding detection tasks;
- d. the systematization of textual synthesis and the bases of linguistic mediation through periphrasis, reformulation or explanation of textual contents;
- e. the improvement of textual production in German (production of specific copies following text models) and the revision of defective texts;

f. the preparation of specific genres of university studies (e.g. abstract, abstract, work script, oral presentation, textual analysis, review, linguistic autobiography) on topics of a cultural, linguistic or translational (inter-) nature in Language C.

The production of texts will be limited to personal subjects and topics or general domains of known or basic areas of study.

Following the German didactic method known as Lerner- und Handlungsorientierter Unterricht (didactics oriented to the practical activity of the student), applied to the Teaching of German as a Foreign Language (DaF) for translation and interpretation, the tasks based on the processing of authentic and current texts can be modified during the course, either according to the relevance of the texts or according to the specific didactical needs of the students, detected by means of continuous formative evaluation or diagnostic evaluation. The progressive definition and the quantity (between 6 and 10 activities) of the specific tasks will therefore depend on the specific didactic needs of the students, without exceeding the total of the stipulated hours.

Language

The course will focus especially on:

- Comprehension of written texts and some oral/audiovisual documents
- The practice of oral and written expression techniques
- Treatment of grammar topics at Mittelstufe B1 level

A series of activities and tasks will be proposed to the student:

- Individual works (grammar exercises, written productions: summary, dissertation, reading card)
- Group work (simulations, comprehension activities, writing activities, oral presentations, etc.)
- Exchanges (debates, presentation of texts, etc.)
- Grammar, oral/written expression and oral/written comprehension tasks
- Freelance work: exercises, test preparation, readings, book reading, essays, information research.

Translation

- Consolidate techniques for solving exercises in translation
- To deepen the tasks related to translation
- Consolidate problem-solving techniques

Annotation: Within the schedule set by the centre or degree programme, 15 minutes of one class will be reserved for students to evaluate their lecturers and their courses or modules through questionnaires.

Assessment

Assessment: see also "Methodology"

Evaluation and diagnostic system and activities used:

- Performance of textual works on subjects related to foreign languages for translators and interpreters,
- Execution tests of real and/or simulated tasks of textual and oral communication in a foreign language,
- Tests with open-ended questions of comprehension and textual production,
- Tests with closed-ended questions of comprehension and textual production.

The following aspects will be evaluated:

1. be able to correctly apply the grammar knowledge acquired during the course.
2. be able to express themselves orally and fluently on a subject within the framework of an oral presentation, a dialogue, where a specific perspective or point of view will have to be presented.
3. be able to write a coherent and cohesive text
4. be able to reflect on one's own learning and use learning strategies
5. be able to put into practice the knowledge acquired : from passive knowledge to the active use of this knowledge

Evaluation and diagnostic techniques used

For the continuous and final evaluation, different types of evaluation, common in teaching of languages with a profile for mediation, translation and interpretation, will be combined.(see CFRL/MECR, chapter 9.3):

To be taken into account for the assessment in Language C

1. Theoretical knowledge will not be evaluated but always its application in the resolution of tasks, exercises or practical tests. The evaluation will be continuous and orientative-formative.
2. The text tasks or partial DaF-grammar tests included different assessment activities (reading comprehension, written and oral production, applied grammatical knowledge, vocabulary and autonomous reading). The grade of none of them will exceed 40% of the final grade for the language assessment.
3. Each partial grammar test has a scale for assessing learning outcomes according to specific competences. These ALE (DaF) grammar tests will last between 1 and 2 hours.
4. Taking the partial tests and the evaluation tasks is compulsory and the student must have taken at least 66.6% of the tests or tasks.
5. The formative text evaluation tasks correspond to 3 written exercises and 1 paper. The evaluative weight of the tasks will be progressively staggered. The grade of no task will exceed 40% of the final grade for the language evaluation.
6. As a general rule, these supervised course tasks are part of the continuous, consecutive and progressive assessment. They will not be accepted or corrected if they are missed outside of the consecutive progression and deadlines set by the faculty. In order to recover the delivery of one of these continuous training jobs, explicit permission will be required to deliver it within a later period of no more than five working days. A calendar of tasks will be published in the Moodle Classroom of the subject (Abgabetermine).

7. On written and oral tasks for the Evaluation of the command or level of the language a weighted average mark of "pass" [5] has to be obtained to guarantee the qualification and certification of level according to the Common European Framework of Reference (CFRL/MECR) and the Royal Decree 1041/2017, Article 7,1-2.
8. During the semester, students will discuss the progression of their learning process.
9. Regular attendance and active participation in class will be highly valued.

Translation

Several individual translation exercises will be carried out, the grade of which will not exceed 40% of the final weighted grade for the translation part. The type of evaluation activities will be specified by the person in charge of translation when teaching begins.

Note

The information on the evaluation, the type of evaluation activities and their weight on the subject is for guidance only. The teacher in charge of the subject will specify it at the beginning of teaching.

It is advisable to read carefully the special and detailed information in the Moodle Classroom of the subject, and especially the calendar of partial evaluations and tasks.

Regulations for the Assessment, Revision and Reassessment of the Faculty of Translation and Interpretation

Assessment is continuous. Students must provide evidence of their progress by completing the tasks. Task deadlines will be indicated in the course schedule on the first day of class. The information on assessment activities and their weighting is a guide. The subject's lecturer will provide full information when teaching begins.

Review

When publishing final marks prior to recording them on students' transcripts, the lecturer will provide written notification of a date and time for reviewing assessment activities. Students must arrange reviews in agreement with the lecturer.

Missed/failed assessment activities

Students may retake assessment activities they have failed or compensate for any they have missed, provided that those they have actually performed account for a minimum of 66.6% (two thirds) of the subject's final mark and that they have a weighted average mark of at least 3.5.

The lecturer will inform students of the procedure involved, in writing, when publishing final marks prior to recording them on transcripts. The lecturer may set one assignment per failed or missed assessment activity or a single assignment to cover a number of such activities. Under no circumstances may an assessment activity worth 100% of the final mark be retaken or compensated for.

Students who have presented themselves to activities the weight of which equals to 66.6% (two-thirds) or more of the final grade, and who have obtained a weighted median grade of between 3.5 and 4.9 may recover failed assessments. The student will be able to recover only those evaluation activities that have been suspended or for which no evaluation evidence has been presented. At the time of delivering the final grade prior to the course report, the teacher will communicate through Aula Moodle the recovery procedure. For the evaluation of the continuous, consecutive and progressive textual tasks, see Evaluation, Article 6.

Teachers may propose a remedial activity for each suspended or not presented activity, or they may group several activities into one of the soles, provided that all learning outcomes are evaluated and the same criteria for evaluation and weighting of the final grade is maintained. In no case can recovery consist of a single final assessment activity equivalent to 100% of the grade. The teacher can establish that, in the case of students who have passed the recovery, the maximum final grade of the subject or module is 5 (= rite -passed).

Classification as "not assessable"

In the event of the assessment activities a student has performed accounting for just 25% or less of the subject's final mark, their work will be classified as "not assessable" on their transcript.

Irregularities in assessment activities

In case of irregularity (plagiarism, copying, impersonation, etc.) in an evaluation activity, the rating of this evaluation activity will be 0. In case of irregularities in several evaluation activities, the final grade of the subject will be 0.

Evaluation activities where irregularities have occurred (e.g. plagiarism, copying, impersonation) are excluded from recovery.

Misconduct in assessment activities

Students who engage in misconduct (plagiarism, copying, impersonation, etc.) in an assessment activity will receive a mark of "0" for the activity in question. In the case of misconduct in more than one assessment activity, the student involved will be given a final mark of "0" for the subject. Assessment activities in which irregularities have occurred (e.g. plagiarism, copying, impersonation) are excluded from recovery.
