Objectives and Contextualisation

It is a 4th year subject that intends to complete the training of professionals to act in two big fields in a complementary way: training in organizations and directing and leading educational institutions.

For that matter, it answers the general objectives established in the profile of Pedagogy Bachelor's Degree, which are: assessing institutions, fostering development in organizations, managing resources and staff, applying strategic plans, designing and developing training activities.

It draws from the educational basis studied in previous years, and it has as references contents related to Education and Educational Contexts, The Organization and Groups, Design, Monitoring and Evaluation of Plans and Programs, Organizational Development of Educational Institutions, Educational Innovation.

Likewise, it is important to consider that this subject will be complemented with two other optional courses, which are: International Quality Models and Educational Supervision and Inspection.

Its general objectives are:

1. Thinking about concepts related to assessment of institutions and teachers.
2. Analyzing models of evaluation of institutions and teachers.
3. Identifying elements and parts that intervene in the assessment process.
4. Designing processes of differential evaluation (assessment of institutions and assessment of teachers)

Methodology

Our teaching approach and assessment procedures may be altered if public Health authorities impose new restrictions on public gatherings for COVID-19

The methodological approach of this subject centers the main activity in the students' learning process. In order to achieve this principle, students must be active and autonomous during the process, with the teacher's purpose of helping them in this task. In this regard, the teacher will 1) give support to students all the time giving them information and resources that they need to achieve learning, 2) look out for the students' autonomous learning, proposing them different teaching-learning activities (individual and group activities, theoretical and practical activities) under the principle of methodological multivariety.

In this approach, this subject is structured, in its design and development, in two kinds of teaching-learning activities, which we detailed and concretized in the following table:

Activity	Hours	Methodology	Learning Outcomes
On-site, big group (lectures)	30	This classes help to present contents and participate actively in their development at the same time. Despite being a type of activity where the spotlight is on the teacher, it is necessary to foster students' active participation, especially sharing their achieved (or in process to achieve) learning. At that moment, for example, it is when the practicalactivities are presented, which are part of the subject and will be developed individually or in groups.	4,5,6,10,11,12
Seminars (small groups-workshops)	15	This classes help to work in small groups to reinforce individual work and small group work (5 people approx.). At the same time, it is an adequate space to discuss and, without forgetting the whole group, customize learning through analysing documents, solving cases or varied activities. Here it is where we go deeper into contents and topics worked in big group.	1,2,3,4,5,6,7, 8,9,10,11,12

Large group classroom activities should allow students to actively participate in the construction of professional knowledge. Although the spotlight falls mainly on the lecturer, it is important to encourage the students' active participation, not only in large group sessions, but also in working group sessions so as to resolve situations and / or specific problems that may arise in order to encourage the training of students.

Annotation: Within the schedule set by the centre or degree programme, 15 minutes of one class will be reserved for students to evaluate their lecturers and their courses or modules through questionnaires.

Assessment

The proposed evaluation may undergo some modification depending on the restrictions on attendance imposed by the University.

For the evaluation of the subject, we consider that there are three key moments: initial evaluation, continuous evaluation and final evaluation.

- The initial evaluation helps us to know the entry level of students regarding their knowledge about the subject and experience in group work, self-directed work, etc., with the purpose of adapting the program to their features.
- The continuous evaluation helps us to verify the level of learning achievements in order to respond to diversity and students' particularities, as well as making decisions about the pace of the program's development.
- The final evaluation helps us to verify the level of the learning achieved, taking into account the objectives and competences of the program, considering the adaptations that we have might introduced.

With these basic principles, we have that the student will have to deliver three types of evidences: 2 practical proofs of group character (1 of the first block, 1 of the second block), 1 theoretical test-practical and a project of evaluation of a center, of group character.

The theoretical-practical test will take place one week after the end of the two content blocks (January 14, 2022). The recovery will take place on January 28, 2022. In order to be able to recover the theoretical-practical tests, it is necessary to have taken a score of not less than 3.5.

The practical tests have a formative purpose from the point of view of their evaluation, since they will be able to be reviewed by the group in function of the delivered task. This review will be done in the seminars that are considered presenting the results of the group work to the rest of the classmates.

The evaluation project of an educational center has a summative purpose and must be an individual synthesis of the realization, discussion and reflection of the group work. Due to its nature, when a test is suspended, it can be retaken at the end of the subject.

The realization of all the practical and theoretical-practical tests is indispensable to pass the subject. In the event that there are theoretical-practical or practical tests pending, they can be taken and / or delivered on the specific date at the end of the course. In no case will it be possible to recover when no theoretical / practical test has been passed during the semester.

Feedback of every evaluation activity will be given in two weeks after their submission.

Attendance is compulsory. The supporting documents only serve to explain the absence, in no case do they exempt from attendance. Students who do not pass any of the written tests will have the possibility of recovery on the indicated date

The marks obtained in each of the evaluating activities will be delivered to the students by publishing results in Moodle or in the classroom. Once the grades have been delivered, the students will be able to review the grade in the hours that the teachers have for tutoring.

Linguistic correction, writing and formal presentation aspects will be taken into account in all activities. Students must be able to express themselves fluently and correctly and must show a high degree of understanding of academic texts. An activity can be returned (not evaluated) or suspended if teachers consider that it does not meet these requirements.

Copying or plagiarism, both in the case of work and in the case of exams, constitute a crime that may represent failing the subject:

- A work, activity or exam will be considered to be "copied" when it reproduces all or part of another partner's work.
- A work or activity will be considered "plagiarized" when a part of a text by an author is presented as its own without citing the sources, regardless of whether the original sources are on paper or in digital format (more info at: http://wuster.uab.es/web\_argumenta\_obert/unit\_20/sot\_2\_0.html).
