Objectives and Contextualisation

This subject corresponds to book II of the Spanish criminal code. That is, the study of the so-called "special part" of criminal law and, in particular, the groups of crimes that are most often applied by our courts; as well as the study of the main dogmatic and interpretative problems that their application presents. Therefore, in the case of the last of the compulsory subjects of criminal law, the objective is for students to attain the methodological skills for solving criminal cases and, in particular, to learn to:

- a) identify the elements of a factual assumption that may have criminal relevance.
- b) apply the legal theory of crime as a method to solve criminal cases.
- c) work on legal reasoning

Competences

- Acquiring the basic knowledge from the several legal dogmas and presenting them in public.
- Arguing and laying the foundation for the implementation of legal standards.
- Demonstrating a sensible and critical reasoning: analysis, synthesis, conclusions.
- Drawing up legal texts (contracts, judgements, sentences, writs, rulings, wills, legislation...).
- Explaining the legislative reforms and jurisprudential changes.
- Identifying and solving problems.
- Identifying the underlying conflicts of interest in disputes and real cases.
- Identifying, assessing and putting into practice changes in jurisprudence.

Methodology

In order to achieve the competences of the course, students must perform two types of activities.

1. Directed activities, which will be done in the classroom, consisting of:

Lectures given by the professor, in which the theoretical contents of the course will be examined (50%)
Seminars: Following the lectures, seminars will be devoted to work on each of the topics of the course through activities consisting of discussing readings, analyzing court judgements, performing mock trials and giving presentations (50%).

2.- Autonomus activities. As a complement to the directed activities, students will work individually and in a group, through:

- a. Group work on the judgements and readings provided to students. The results of some of the group work will be presented in the seminars.
- b. Individual work. Students must write four esasays on different topis proposed at the beginning of the course.

The methodology to be used in this subject in the double degree in Law +ADE may vary. The professor in charge will specify when and how the practical activities will be carried out.

Annotation: Within the schedule set by the centre or degree programme, 15 minutes of one class will be reserved for students to evaluate their lecturers and their courses or modules through questionnaires.

Assessment

Evaluation model:

- The evaluation model is mixed, theoretical-practical- and pursues that the students and the teacher can know the degree of obtaining the competences to guide the formative process.
- Attendance at seminars/workshops is mandatory.

- At the beginning of the course the teacher in charge of each group will inform the students, through the moodle classroom, of the content and dates of the continuous evaluation activities, as well as the final exam model (test, short questions, etc...).

Composition of the final grade:

The continuous assessment activities carried out throughout the course will account for 50% of the final assessment (5 points) and the final set test will account for the remaining 50% (5 points).

Continuous evaluation activities:

The dates and concrete activities of continuous evaluation will be detailed by each teacher the first week of the course.

The activities will be of two types:

1. Activities or group work: the participation and realization of the seminars will be valued 10% of the grade (1/10).
2. Individual activities or work: Between 2 and 4 activities must be carried out. They may consist of the resolution of cases with citation of jurisprudence, in comments on judgments or doctrinal articles on specific topics. They will have an overall value of 40% of the grade (4/10). Each teacher, at the beginning of the course, will indicate the date and type of individual tests to be performed.

The evaluation model to be used in this subject in the double degree in Law +ADE may vary. The professor in charge will specify when and what the continuous evaluation activities will consist of, which will be between 2 and 4 and individual

Overall final test:

Value 50%. Calendar on the official dates proposed by academic management.

Final grade of the course:

The final grade of the subject will result from the arithmetic sum of the previous ones. In order to pass the course it is necessary to obtain a 4/10 (2 minimum) in the overall final exam, and a 5/10 of the total. Students who do not obtain a 5 average (EC+PF) must re-evaluate either the final test or the EC.

Re-evaluation:

- Those students who do not obtain an average of 5 or a grade lower than 2 in the final joint test will have to reevaluate.
- The re-evaluation of the final joint test will consist of an exam of the same class as the previous one and allows obtaining up to five.
- Re-evaluation of the individual continued activity: it will consist in the realization of an individual activity (resolution of cases).

Revision: When publishing the notes, both of the activities carried out during the course and of the final test, such as the re-evaluation, the teacher will specify the revision system (date, time and place).

Warning: Students who copy or attempt to copy on a final exam will receive a 0 on the exam. The student who presents a practice in which there is plagiarism will get a 0 and will receive a warning. In case of repetition of the behavior, the student will be suspended from the course.
