Prerequisites

General knowledge about Early Modern History.

Objectives and Contextualisation

- 1.- A general view of the main events and processes of change and continuity of the 16th century, with several thematic approaches (social, political, economic, gender, cultural, ideological).
- 2.- Introduction to the theory and methodology of Early Modern History.

Competences

- Critically assessing the fonts and theoretical models in order to analyse the different historical periods.
- Developing critical thinking and reasoning and communicating them effectively both in your own and other languages.
- Mastering the basic diachronic and thematic concepts of the historical science.
- Respecting the diversity and plurality of ideas, people and situations.
- Students must be capable of applying their knowledge to their work or vocation in a professional way and they should have building arguments and problem resolution skills within their area of study.
- Students must be capable of collecting and interpreting relevant data (usually within their area of study) in order to make statements that reflect social, scientific or ethical relevant issues.
- Students must develop the necessary learning skills in order to undertake further training with a high degree of autonomy.

Learning Outcomes

1. Accurately describing an artistic object with the specific language of art criticism.
2. Assessing the approach of the different branches of historical research that study the Early Modern Period.
3. Communicating in your mother tongue or other language both in oral and written form by using specific terminology and techniques of Historiography.
4. Developing the ability of historical analysis and synthesis.
5. Explaining the most relevant historical processes of the Early Modern Period.
6. Identifying and analysing the social, economic and political tensions that triggered the transition from the Middle Ages to the Early Modern Period.
7. Identifying the main and secondary ideas and expressing them with linguistic correctness.
8. Organising and planning the search of historical information.
9. Relating elements and factors involved in the development of historical processes.
10. Solving problems autonomously.
11. Using the characteristic computing resources of the field of History.
12. Working in teams respecting the other's points of view.

Content

1. The crisis of the end of the Middle Ages and the birth of the Modern world
2. The modern foundations of Western culture
3. The beginnings of confessional Europe
4. Alliances, oppositions and conflicts: Europe and the World, 1494-1609.
5. The social and economic dynamics

In all these subjects, teachers will be sensitive to the gender perspective.

Assessment

The course will be evaluated through exams, text commentaries and individual papers, with partial weighted grades on the final grade.

The evaluation system is organized in two modules:

- Exams module (60%).
- Papers, with a value of 40% of the final mark of the course.

Any evaluation activity will not weigh more than 50% of the final grade.

Evaluation activities must be submitted within the established deadlines. The papers module is not subjected to the re-evaluation process.

Evaluation activities will be programmed throughout the academic year. The dates of the evaluation activities will be communicated to students in advance. At the time of completion/delivery of each assessment activity, the teacher will inform (Moodle, SIA) of the procedure and date of revision of the grades.

The student will be classified as Non-evaluable when he has not delivered more than 30% of the evaluation activities.

In the event of a student committing any irregularity that may lead to a significant variation in the grade awarded to an assessment activity, the student will be given a zero for this activity, regardless of any disciplinary process that may take place. In the event of several irregularities in assessment activities of the same subject, the student will be given a zero as the final grade for this subject.

In the written activities, spelling, syntactic or lexical mistakes are taken into account. The penalty can be between 0.1-0.2 points on the final grade for each mistake made in every test and paper.

RE-EVALUATION

To participate in the re-evaluation, students must have previously been assessed in a set of activities whose weight is equivalent to a minimum of 2/3 of the total grade.

To participate in the re-evaluation students must have obtained at least 3,5 in the continuous evaluation

The re-evaluation test will consist of a test of all the content of the course and will be held on the dates officially established by the Faculty. In no case may recovery be considered as a means of improving the qualification of the students that had already passed the subject in the normal process of continuous evaluation. The maximum grade that can be obtained in the re-evaluation test is 5.0 ("Passed").

In the event that tests or exams cannot be taken onsite, they will be adapted to an online format made available through the UAB's virtual tools (original weighting will be maintained). Homework, activities and class participation will be carried out through forums, wikis and/or discussion on Teams, etc. Lecturers will ensure that students are able to access these virtual tools, or will offer them feasible alternatives.
