III. Grammar

Students must have assimilated the linguistic contents of the previously studied subjects of "Latin Philology" in the first and second courses. Grammar will focus on:

- the syntax of cases (infrequent and / or singular uses)
- the syntax of the complex sentence, especially the completive and adverbial subordinate clauses (causal, conditional, concessive, final, and comparative sentences)
IV. Prosody and stylistics

- The elegiac couplet
- Rhetorical figures

V. Reception and tradition of authors and texts

In this subject, gender perspective will be taken into account in the following aspects:

1. Including contents of both a general nature (role of women in the Roman society of the 1st century BC) as specific (female senders and recipients).
2. Not allowing a sexist use of language in the students' oral and written contributions.
3. Guaranteeing in the classroom an atmosphere respectful with the diversity and plurality of ideas, people and politics.
4. Avoiding gender stereotypes in examples.
5. Writing, in the references, the full names of authors, instead of only the initial.

Methodology

The classes will be eminently practical. The professor will dedicate time to:

- Read, translate and comment on the proposed selection of texts.
- Provide students with mechanisms that allow them to progressively increase the volume of translated text.
- Read and understand texts in sight without the use of the dictionary.
- Correct the texts translated daily by students.
- Discuss the linguistic, literary and sociocultural content of translated texts, with a singular emphasis on aspects related to their later tradition.
- Explain the grammatical, metrical and stylistic contents based on the text.
- Explain de realia contents that help contextualise the text.

Students will have to use a bilingual university dictionary; they will not be allowed to use a school dictionary.

Annotation: Within the schedule set by the centre or degree programme, 15 minutes of one class will be reserved for students to evaluate their lecturers and their courses or modules through questionnaires.

Assessment

I. Assessment

The final grade will be calculated as follows:

- Final exam (50%). Translation and commentary of a passage not previous commented in class (up to 20 lines)
- Midterm (15%). Translation of a short passage (up to 10 lines) not previous commented in class.
- Homework and/or in-class exercises (20%)
- Translation and commentary of a passage previous commented in class (10%)
- Active participation in class (5%)

II. Please note:

1. The delivery of 2 of the assessment items (assignments / exercises / exams) excludes the possibility of obtaining the status of No avaluable as a final course grade.
2. To obtain the status Pass as a final course grade is obligatory:
   - Having done the final exam and obtaining 4.
   - Having completed 75% of homework and class exercises

III: Reassessment

For the Re-assessment the following conditions are applicable:

- The student must previously have obtained an average overall grade equal to or higher than 3.5.
- The student must previously have been evaluated for activities that equal to 2/3 parts of the final grade.
- The student will only can do a content-synthesis test (= 50%).

IV. Calendar of assignments:

- Midterm exam. Tuesday 25-10-2022
- Final exam. Friday 13-01-2023
- Translation and commentary of a passage previous commented in class. Tuesday 10-01-2023

V. Procedure for Reviewing Grades Awarded
On carrying out each evaluation activity, lecturers will inform students of the procedures to be followed for reviewing all grades awarded, and the date on which such a review will take place.

VI. Plagiarism and copying

In the event of a student committing any irregularity that may lead to a significant variation in the grade awarded to an assessment activity, the student will be given a zero for this activity, regardless of any disciplinary process that may take place. In the event of several irregularities in assessment activities of the same subject, the student will be given a zero as the final grade for this subject.
