Prerequisites

It has no mandatory prerequisites. It is recommended to have successfully completed the Introduction to Economics course.

Objectives and Contextualisation

This course focuses on studying and analyzing the functioning of the labour market and its relationship with institutions.

The subject's main objective is to provide analytical knowledge to students. A second objective is to develop cognitive tools to analyze specific labour market issues. Therefore, the objectives of the course are:

- 1) Understand the basic analytical foundations for the economic study of the labour market.
- 2) Learning by working with statistical sources and empirical studies on the labour market.
- 3) Know how to apply knowledge to the debates and analyzes that take place in the labour market.
- 4) Demonstrate the degree of knowledge achieved by carrying out work in the labour market.

Competences

- Advising union and business organizations and their members.
- Applying the information and communication technologies to the different areas of action.
- Clearly expressing ideas or facts in a compelling way.
- Connecting the labour market needs, demands, and fluctuations, and the dynamics and policies of the industrial relations.
- Contextualising the social events from a (geographical, historical, economic, ecological, sociopolitical or cultural) global point of view.
- Contrasting the equality between men and women in the workplace and solving the issues arisen with the Act on Equality.
- Distinguishing the special needs of labour integration in different groups of workers (with mental or psychical disabilities, immigrants...).
- Drawing up and formalising reports and documents.
- Interpreting data and socioeconomic indicators concerning the labour market.
- Organising and managing the available time.
- Producing, implementing and assessing territorial strategies of economic promotion and labour integration.
- Properly analysing the specific situations of reconciliation of work and family life, and implementing the corresponding regulations.
- Retain the ethical values and moral standards in decision-making.
- Students must be aware of the impact and implications of decisions and activities in other company areas.
- Students must be capable of persuading others to agree with their point of view.
- Understanding the dynamic and changing character of the labour relations in the national and international field.
- Verbally communicating and defending a project.
- Working autonomously.
- Working effectively in teams.

Assessment

The individual assessment score is the weighted average of:

- Two exams (35% each)
- Different activities to be carried out throughout the course (30%)

as long as a grade equal to or greater than 4.0 is achieved in each exam.

An average grade equal to or greater than 5.0 is required to pass.

Fraudulent behaviour

"A student who cheats or tries to cheat in an exam will have a grade of 0 and will lose the right to reassessment.

A student who presents an assignment in which there is evidence of plagiarism or cannot justify the arguments of the assignment will get a 0 and a warning.

In case of reiteration, the student will fail the course".
