Prerequisites

Good reading habits. English knowledge recommended..

Objectives and Contextualisation

The syllabus for this course consists of two parts. In the first part, we will take a survey of the history of photography, from its origins to the present day, based on a careful selection of themes. The aim of this part of the programme is to familiarise students with the broad panorama of the history of photography, and with the conceptual tools necessary to critically analyse the photographic phenomenon and to understand it from multiple perspectives.

The second, shorter part of the programme will be devoted to avant-garde cinema and its legacy in contemporary art and documentary cinema. The classes in this part of the programme will complement those in the first part, with the aim of deepening our knowledge of the artistic culture of the avant-garde and bringing us closer to one of the most relevant and active fields of contemporary filmmaking.

Competences

Art History

- Critically analysing from the acquired knowledge a work of art in its many facets: formal values, iconographic significance, artistic techniques and procedures, elaboration process and reception mechanisms.
- Interpreting a work of art in the context in which it was developed and relating it with other forms of cultural expression.
- Recognising the evolution of the artistic imagery from the antiquity to the contemporary visual culture.
- Recognising the fundamental problems, vocabulary and concepts of the Theory of Art and Cinema.
- Students must be capable of applying their knowledge to their work or vocation in a professional way and they should have building arguments and problem resolution skills within their area of study.
- Students must be capable of communicating information, ideas, problems and solutions to both specialised and non-specialised audiences.

Science, Technology and Humanities

- Analyse the relationships between nature and culture using concepts from anthropology, philosophy and history.
- Make critical use of digital tools and interpret specific documentary sources.
- Recognise the political, social and cultural dimension of science and technology development in the different historical periods.
- Students must be capable of applying their knowledge to their work or vocation in a professional way and they should have building arguments and problem resolution skills within their area of study.
- Students must be capable of collecting and interpreting relevant data (usually within their area of study) in order to make statements that reflect social, scientific or ethical relevant issues.
- Students must develop the necessary learning skills to undertake further training with a high degree of autonomy.

Learning Outcomes

1. Accurately defining and explaining an artistic object with the specific language of art criticism.
2. Analyse documents from different historical periods.
3. Analyse representations of sexualities in cultural productions.
4. Analysing ideas about an artistic phenomenon in a given cultural context.
5. Analysing the creators of an artistic phenomenon in a specific cultural context.
6. Analysing the recipients of an artistic phenomenon in a specific cultural context.
7. Assess and correct your own work.
8. Assess the organisation of a specific archive.
9. Autonomously searching, selecting and processing information both from structured sources (databases, bibliographies, specialized magazines) and from across the network.
10. Connecting an artistic imagery with other cultural phenomena within its period.
11. Critically analysing basic concepts of artistic and cinematographic theory and its evolution through history.
12. Discern the transformations of gender relations in the history of culture.
13. Distinguishing the elaboration techniques and processes of an artistic object.
14. Engaging in debates about historical facts respecting the other participants' opinions.
15. Evaluate other related disciplines that help in the correct treatment of documents: sigillography, chronology, etc.
16. Examining an artistic imagery and distinguishing its formal, iconographic and symbolic values.
17. Explaining the reception mechanisms of a work of art.
18. Identify the different types of records.
19. Identifying the artistic imagery, placing it into its cultural context.
20. Recognise the representation of masculinity in art history.
21. Reconstructing the artistic outlook of a particular cultural context.
22. Use ICT to organise documents.
