Prerequisites

There are no specific requirements. However,

- the students on the Tourism Degree will have to accredit a B2 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR) by the end of their studies.
- the students on the Tourism Degree in English will have to accredit a C1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR) by the end of their studies.

Objectives and Contextualisation

The main objective of the second course is to continue enabling students to consolidate and widen their range of knowledge, including English pertinent to the tourism sector and of a more general nature so that they can accredit a B2 level at the end of their studies if they are studying the Tourism degree, and a C1 if they are studying Tourism in English.

During this second course students should further develop the capacity to:

- Follow the discourse of conferences, debates and more informal interactions.
- Maintain conversations in formal and informal register, correctly interpreting the interjections of other speakers.
- Participate in debates and discussions on issues of general interest or specifically related to tourism using the standard language for either type of communication (using correct vocabulary, giving examples, etc.).

- Relate facts or events experienced personally or reported by others.
- Convey feelings, express needs or give instructions without difficulty.
- Write emails in formal (requests for information, etc.) and informal contexts (emails to acquaintances, etc.).
- Produce texts about actions, trips and events - chronologically arranged with clear, concise descriptions of the most relevant aspects.
- Create a promotional brochure for a tourism destination.

Skills

- Develop an appropriate degree of accuracy (grammar, pronunciation, vocabulary usage, register, etc.) and fluency (production speed, ability to express ideas and develop speech).
- Develop strategies and skills to understand authentic written texts and oral presentations.
- Develop strategies to continue to learn independently outside the classroom.
- Develop the ability to function efficiently and with an appropriate degree of linguistic precision both in the field of tourism and in everyday situations.
- Be able to correctly use reference material necessary for autonomous language learning: dictionaries, grammars, online applications etc.

Competences

- Communicate orally and in writing in three foreign languages within the tourism field and others related to it.
- Develop a capacity for independent learning.
- Implement business communication techniques used by tourism organisations: internal, external and corporate.
- Self-assess the knowledge acquired.
- Use communication techniques at all levels.
- Work in a team.

Learning Outcomes

1. Develop a capacity for independent learning.
2. Identify vocabulary and grammar resources for use in the tourism sector, in three foreign languages.
3. Self-assess the knowledge acquired.
4. Use communication techniques at all levels.
5. Use the idiomatic expressions typical of the tourism sector in three foreign languages, at upper intermediate level.
6. Use tourism resources available on internet, in three foreign languages.
7. Vary the discourse patterns used to fit different functions, contexts, media, activities and situations in the workplace.
8. Work in a team.

Methodology

Language of instruction

Tourism in Spanish/Catalan: English

Tourism in English: English

The teaching methodology prioritises the students' learning process over theoretical presentations by the teacher. Input is provided from both graded and authentic materials and the students are encouraged to engage with the material through guided practice in all four skills, with freer interactive and communicative activities to advance oral communication skills.

The teacher will use one or more of the following methodologies depending on which he or she considers to be most suitable for the material and the students in each session.

- Presentation and practice of grammar and vocabulary.
- Discovery learning and noticing techniques.
- Task-based learning in pairs and groups.
- Problem-solving exercises in pairs and groups.
- Role plays.
- Text or listening based debates (e.g. TED talks).
- Revision games with kahoot and other applications.
- Modelling from sample texts for writing.
- Strategies to promote self-correction and autonomy in writing.
- Live learning projects.

Annotation: Within the schedule set by the centre or degree programme, 15 minutes of one class will be reserved for students to evaluate their lecturers and their courses or modules through questionnaires.

Assessment

Continuous Assessment

80% attendance is required in order to be eligible for the Continuous Assessment.

Continuous Assessment activities

Continuous assessment activities include:

- Essays. The student will be required to produce between 3 - 5 written texts over the course of their studies (rewritings of writings may also be used).

- Final Project. It will be carried out throughout the course and it will exhibit the four language skills. This project will be done at home and in class.
- Oral Activities. Throughout the course, the student will produce a minimum of one oral activity (or a maximum of two), either individually or in a group and in the form of monologues, presentations, videos etc.
- Mid-Term Testing. Half way through the course, the students will have two mid-term tests; a writing test (one or two tasks) and a speaking test (one task). These will be similar in format to the final exam.
- Attitude and participation. Effort, attitude and participation will also be evaluated.

Final continuous assessment exam: writing and speaking are assessed.

The exam is on the same day as the final exam.

- The continuous assessment activities represent: 60% of the final mark.
- The final exam represents 40% of the final mark.

6 is the pass mark.

Single Assessment

Students who opt not to do the continuous assessment have the right to do a final exam of the two productive skills - speaking and writing.

A global mark of 60%, is required to pass the course. The final mark on SIGMA will be the exam mark out of 10. If you wish to apply for this type of evaluation, you should fill out the official form in Gestió Acadèmica at the beginning of the course.

Resit

The resit exam consists on a final exam of the two productive skills - speaking and writing.

A global mark of 60% is required to pass the course and the final mark on SIGMA will be the exam mark out of 10.

Other aspects

No level certification.
