Methodology

The learning process is based on the student's work through their self-study, reading texts, searching for documentation and preparing papers.

That consists of different activities that will be performed during the classes, such as case studies, comments on case law, lectures, presentations., debates, etc.

The schedule of the activities will be available at Moodle before the beginning of the course.

The teaching methodology and the assessment may undergo some modifications depending on the restrictions on in-class attendance that might be imposed by the health authorities.

Annotation: Within the schedule set by the centre or degree programme, 15 minutes of one class will be reserved for students to evaluate their lecturers and their courses or modules through questionnaires.

Assessment

The evaluation is based on the following activities;

a Case Study on Section I (25%),

a Case Study on Sections II (25%),

an exam on Section I (25%),

an exam on Section II (25%)

To pass the subject assessment, students must obtain a final grade, - result of all the evaluation activities- of at least 5/10 and a minimum score of 3/10 on each activity.

At the beginning of the course, the professor will inform about the content and requirements of the activities and their schedule. (Moodle)

At the time of developing each activity, the professor will inform the students (Moodle) about the procedure and date for the grading revision.

Only those students who do not pass the final grade of the subject and have obtained a minimum of 3/10 in each activity will have access to the reassessment

The reassessment task will consist of an exam of the corresponding sections. The exam shall be theoretical and/or a case study.

In the event of a student committing any irregularity that may lead to a significant variation in the grade awarded to an assessment activity, the student will be given a zero for this activity, regardless of any disciplinary process that may take place. In the event of several irregularities in assessment activities of the same subject, the student will be given a zero as the final grade for this subject.

In the event that tests or exams cannot be taken onsite, they will be adapted to an online format made available through the UAB's virtual tools (original weighting will be maintained). Homework, activities and class participation will be carried out through forums, wikis and/or discussion on Teams, etc. Lecturers will ensure that students are able to access these virtual tools, or will offer them feasible alternatives. The single assessment will consist of 3 tests of 3 different types: test, text commentary and oral exam (33.3% each of the parts). The same recovery system will be applied as for the continuous assessment.
