Prerequisites

There are no prerequisites. It is assumed that people who enroll in this subject are trained to read specialized bibliography in Catalan, Spanish and English.

Objectives and Contextualisation

According to the definition of the reference handbook of Catalan sociolinguistics (Boix and Vila, 1998: 33), "we understand by Catalan sociolinguistics the research around the relations between language and society [...] that is carried out from some of the Catalan - speaking territories ". This research can be done from a sociological perspective (the study of society in relation to language) or from a linguistic one (the study of language in relation to society); in the first case we usually speak of "sociology of language" and in the second we could speak of "social linguistics". In accordance with the dominant tradition in Catalan sociolinguistics, in this subject we adopt the social perspective, with the following threefold objective: a) with a historical background and on the basis of basic concepts of general sociolinguistics, familiarize people enrolled with the situation current use of the Catalan language in the different territories of the Catalan - speaking area, within the framework of the existing linguistic and social diversity, according to the available empirical studies; b) initiate them in the methodology followed by these empirical studies; and c) to introduce them in the study of the language policy that is applied in those territories, which is the central topic of the optional subject Language Policy and Planning.

Competences

- Act with ethical responsibility and respect for fundamental rights, diversity and democratic values.
- Assess gender inequalities when acting in this field of knowledge.
- Critically apply the different instruments of analysis to different types of linguistic data.

- Critically read and interpret texts.
- Demonstrate a mastery of the rules of the Catalan language, its linguistic bases and all its application in the academic and professional fields.
- Display teamwork skills.
- Innovate in the methods and processes of this area of knowledge in response to the needs and wishes of society.
- Interpret the political, social and cultural factors that affect the use of the Catalan language and its evolution over time and at the present day.
- Students must be capable of applying their knowledge to their work or vocation in a professional way and they should have building arguments and problem resolution skills within their area of study.
- Students must be capable of collecting and interpreting relevant data (usually within their area of study) in order to make statements that reflect social, scientific or ethical relevant issues.
- Students must be capable of communicating information, ideas, problems and solutions to both specialised and non-specialised audiences.
- Students must develop the necessary learning skills to undertake further training with a high degree of autonomy.
- Students must have and understand knowledge of an area of study built on the basis of general secondary education, and while it relies on some advanced textbooks it also includes some aspects coming from the forefront of its field of study.
- Use digital tools and specific documentary sources.

Learning Outcomes

Content

1. General sociolinguistics and Catalan sociolinguistics: basic notions of general sociolinguistics and application to the study of the relationship between language and society in the Catalan-speaking area.

2. Sociolinguistic history of Catalan and history of Catalan sociolinguistics: a review of the social history of the Catalan language and the main contributions of Catalan sociolinguistics since its inception as a discipline.
3. Catalan sociolinguistics: analysis of the current situation of the Catalan language (competence, use and representations), within the framework of the existing linguistic and social diversity.
4. Language policy and planning: introduction to public policies that affect the current situation of the Catalan language, with an emphasis on the relevant legal frameworks and the linguistic ideologies that underlie them.
5. Prospective: based on the analysis of the empirical reality and the public interventions that are applied in each case, a brief consideration of the future scenarios of the Catalan language in the framework of the existing linguistic and social diversity.

Methodology

This course consists of 6 ECTS, which correspond to 150 hours of student dedication. Of this total, 45 hours (30%) correspond to classroom-directed activities, 30 hours (20%) to supervised activities, and 75 hours (50%) to autonomous activities.

The calendar will be available on the first day of class. Students will find all information on the Virtual Campus: the description of the activities, teaching materials, and any necessary information for the proper follow-up of the subject. In case of a change of teaching modality for health reasons, teachers will make readjustments in the schedule and methodologies.

Note: 15 minutes of a class will be reserved, within the calendar established by the center/degree, for the completion by the students of the evaluation surveys of the teaching staff's performance and evaluation of the subject.

Annotation: Within the schedule set by the centre or degree programme, 15 minutes of one class will be reserved for students to evaluate their lecturers and their courses or modules through questionnaires.

Assessment

ASSESSMENT

According to the UAB assessment regulation, "the continuous assessment process must include a minimum of three assessment activities, of two different typologies, distributed throughout the course, none of which can represent more than 50% of the final grade ". In the case of this course, the continuous assessment process consists of the four assessment activities that appear in the table.

This subject foresees the single assessment modality. In this case, the assessment consists of four assessment activities: a review (10%), a test (40%), a written assignment (40%) and the corresponding oral presentation (10%).

To pass the course you will need to get a minimum grade of 5 (out of 10).

NON-ASSESSABLE

The student will receive the grade of Non-assessable as long as he / she has not delivered more than 30% of the assessment activities.

REVIEW OF GRADES

At the time of carrying out each assessment activity, the lecturer will inform the students (Moodle) of the procedure and date of review of grades.

RESIT

According to the UAB assessment regulation, "in order to participate in the resit, students must have previously been evaluated in a set of activities whose weight is equivalent to a minimum of two thirds of the total grade of the course ". In the case of this course, in order to participate in the resit, the research report (50%) and the written assignments (30%) must have been evaluated. Class participation and oral assignments can't be resat.

In accordance with the UAB assessment regulation, to participate in the resit the lecturer responsible for the course requires students to have obtained a minimum grade of 3.5 in the average of the subject.

For the single assessment the same resit method as continuous assessment will be used.

The maximum grade achievable in the resit is a5.

IRREGULARITIES

In the event of a student committing any irregularity that may lead to a significant variation in the grade awarded to an assessment activity, the student will be given a zero for this activity, regardless of any disciplinary process that may take place. In the event of several irregularities in assessment activities of the same subject, the student will be given a zero as the final grade for this subject.

Assessment activities that incur in irregularities cannot be resit.

COVID-19

In the event that tests or exams cannot be taken onsite, they will be adapted to an online format made available through the UAB's virtual tools (original weighting will be maintained). Homework, activities and class participation will be carried out through forums, wikis and/or discussion on Teams, etc. Lecturers will ensure that students are able to access these virtual tools, or will offer them feasible alternatives.
