Prerequisites

All the Medieval subjects of the degree must have been succeeded.
Specifically, none.

Objectives and Contextualisation

During the Middle Ages, Catalonia was configured territorially, socially, politically and culturally. Therefore, it acquired its own historical reality. Through the study of the most important historiographic contributions and written evidences the master lines of Catalonia's origin will be exposed. Likewise, the consolidation and the evolution of the current Catalan territories will be explained. All these items will be studied following the structural and circumstantial evolution that experimented the political power as well as the society and the Catalan economy during the Middle Ages.

The contents will be sensitive to the aspects related to the perspective of gender.

Assessment

Continuous Assessment Activities

Title	Weighting	Hours	ECTS	Learning Outcomes
Essay about a monographic book	30%	3	0.12	1, 2, 4, 10, 12, 13, 14, 15, 17, 31, 32, 35, 36, 38, 39, 46, 47
Essays and comments about practical lessons	20%	3	0.12	3, 6, 8, 9, 11, 14, 18, 19, 20, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 32, 33, 34, 35, 39, 40, 43, 44, 46
Written exams and review	50%	4	0.16	5, 7, 12, 14, 16, 21, 22, 29, 30, 32, 33, 37, 39, 40, 41, 42, 45

Continuous assessment:

The subject will be assessed by applying the following procedures:

1. Two eliminatory mid-term tests: 50% of the final mark: 25 % each.
2. Writing a review of a monograph (30% of the mark).
3. Completion of written exercise: 20% of the final mark. In this percentage, attendance, interest and participation will be taken into account.

The omission of any of the parts that make up the continuous assessment means a zero when calculating the weighted average.

Only assessment activities submitted within the deadlines established by the subject teacher will be recovered; under no circumstances may an exercise be submitted for the first time during the re-evaluation period.

A student will only be considered "not evaluable" if he/she has handed in less than 30% of the evaluable evidences of the total of the subject. If this limit is exceeded, the grade will be a fail if it does not reach the established minimums.

The re-evaluation exercise will consist of an exercise of the whole syllabus of the subject; in no case will it be considered an alternative to raise the grade.

Copying written sources (internet, books, papers, etc.) will result in a 0 in the grade of the exercise and the loss of the whole subject.

Particular cases will be taken into account and will receive personalised treatment in accordance with the subject teacher's guidelines.

Students will have the right to review the results of the tests taken. The teaching staff will establish the mechanisms for doing so in due course.

On carrying out each evaluation activity, lecturers will inform students (on Moodle) of the procedures to be followed for reviewing all grades awarded, and the date on which such a review will take place.

Students will obtain a Not assessed/Not submitted course grade unless they have submitted more than 30% of the assessment items.

Single assessment:

The subject will be assessed by applying the following procedures:

1. A theoretical and oral test (40% of the mark).
2. Writing a review based on a monograph related to the programme (30% of the mark).
3. Completion of a case study (30% of the mark).

The omission of any of the parts that make up the single assessment will result in a zero when calculating the weighted average.

Only assessment activities submitted within the deadlines established by the subject teacher will be recovered; in no case may an exercise be submitted for the first time during the re-evaluation period.

A student will only be considered "not evaluable" if he/she has handed in less than 30% of the evaluable evidences of the total of the subject. If this limit is exceeded, the grade will be a fail if it does not reach the established minimums.

The re-evaluation exercise will consist of an exercise of the entire syllabus of the subject; in no case will it be considered an alternative to raise the grade.

Copying written sources (internet, books, papers, etc.) will result in a 0 in the grade of the exercise and the loss of the whole subject.

Particular cases will be taken into account and will receive personalised treatment in accordance with the subject teacher's guidelines.

Students will have the right to review the results of the tests taken. The teaching staff will establish the mechanisms to do so in due course.

The same assessment method as continuous assessment will be used.

Not assessed students

Students will obtain a Not assessed/Not submitted course grade unless they have submitted more than 30% of the assessment items.
