Prerequisites

Students should have completed the compulsory subjects of Methodology of Political Analysis and Political Behavior.

Objectives and Contextualisation

The aim of this course is to provide students with theoretical and practical tools to analyze the electoral processes and the various elements and actors involved: electoral systems, campaigns, candidates and voters.

This is a natural continuation of the course 'Political behavior' of the third year, which presents the current state of research in electoral behavior combined with a more applied aspect of analysis and electoral strategy.

Competences

- Act with ethical responsibility and respect for fundamental rights and duties, diversity and democratic values.

- Analysing the behaviour of the political actors, both individually and collectively (parties, interest groups, social movements, etc.).
- Analysing the electoral processes, including campaigns, parties' electoral strategies, political scenarios and analysis and interpretation of electoral results.
- Arguing from different theoretical perspectives.
- Assess the social, economic and environmental impact when acting in this field of knowledge.
- Demonstrating good writing skills in different contexts.
- Demonstrating the comprehension of citizen behaviour and democratic values, particularly in internal or international concrete cases.
- Designing data collection techniques, coordinating the information processing and meticulously applying hypothesis verification methods.
- Develop critical thought and reasoning and be able to communicate them effectively, both in your own language and second or third languages.
- Develop strategies for autonomous learning.
- Explaining political, individual and collective attitudes and behaviours, as well as the education process and expression of political preferences.
- Identifying and distinguishing the functioning of the electoral processes.
- Identifying main actors of the political system, inspecting their interactions and assessing their behaviour in their environment and in the political system from a theoretical and practical perspective.
- Identifying sources of data and conducting bibliographic and documentary searches.
- Interpreting and applying English texts in an academic way.
- Make changes to the methods and processes of the area of knowledge to provide innovative responses to the needs and wishes of society.
- Managing the available time in order to accomplish the established objectives and fulfil the intended task.
- Managing the different theoretical contributions about actors and actor's networks, as well as the characteristics of collective action.
- Realising effective oral presentations that are suited to the audience.
- Showing a good capacity for transmitting information, distinguishing key messages for their different recipients.
- Synthesizing and critically analysing information.
- Take sex- or gender-based inequalities into consideration when operating within one's own area of knowledge.
- Using the main information and documentation techniques (ICT) as an essential tool for the analysis.
- Working autonomously.
- Working by using quantitative and qualitative analysis techniques in order to apply them to research processes.
- Working in teams and networking, particularly in interdisciplinary conditions.

Activities and Methodology

Title	Hours	ECTS	Learning Outcomes
Type: Directed
Preparation and writing of a research paper	0	0	1, 2, 3, 7, 9, 10, 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 20, 23, 25
Type: Supervised
In-class exercises	0	0	1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 17, 20, 21, 25
Supervision of the research paper with the professor (4 sessions of 20 minutes each)	0	0	2, 3, 4, 11, 12, 13, 14, 17, 20, 21, 22, 24, 25

Lab sessions will be divided in three different types of activities:

- In group writing of a research paper. This includes 4 tutorials with the professor in order to assess the evolution of the research paper.
- Tools and exercises for survey data analysis. 4 sessions of applied data analysis using R and excel
- Discussion of readings. 3 sessions in which students are required to read a paper in order to critically discuss the paper in class.

Note: Within the schedule set by the centre or degree programme, 15 minutes of one class will be reserved for students to evaluate their lecturers and their courses or modules through questionnaires.

Annotation: Within the schedule set by the centre or degree programme, 15 minutes of one class will be reserved for students to evaluate their lecturers and their courses or modules through questionnaires.

Continous assesment:

Final exam(40%)

Final paper (30%) * Divided between:

- Essay (25%)
- Attendance and evaluation of tutorials (5%)

The esay must be handed in on the day of the exam. If you do not hand in the assignment you will not be allowed to take the exam.

In class-exercises (30%)

Divided between:

- 3 data analaysis exercises (15%)
- Reading and discussion of 3 readings and submission of 3 discussion handouts (15%)

Single (one-shot) assesment

Final exam (70%). Divided as follows:

- Content of theoretical classes (40%)
- Test on the articles covered in the reading seminars (15%)
- Test on interpreting results of data analysis on electoral behavior (15%)

Final paper to be done individually (30%).

In all cases, to pass the course a minimum grade of 5/10 is required in both the exam and the final essay.

Make-up assesment:

Students who do not pass the exam or the final assignment (grade <5) will be able to take a make-up exam and / or resubmit the final assingment on the day of the make-up exam.

If the final assignment has not been previously submitted and it is submitted for the first time on the day of the the make-up exam a -25% penalty will be applied to the final assignment grade.
