Prerequisites

This course is scheduled for the first semester of the first year and there is no established prerequisites for it.

Objectives and Contextualisation

The general objectives of this course are:

- To describe and analyse the athletic career from a holistic and developmental perspective
- To work on the career transitions and dual career (combination of sport and studies or work)
- To work on the athletes' environment role in their development (coaches, families, environments)
- To describe and analyse the latest trends in sport psychology (e.g., women's athletic career, LGTBI)

Competences

- Analyze the psychological factors that impact sports initiation, performance and abandonment.
- Apply psychological interventions to school-age children, with trainers and parents, in the field of sports performance and exercise in relation to health.
- Continue the learning process, to a large extent autonomously.
- Evaluate the effectiveness of psychological interventions in sports initiation, maintenance and performance.
- Integrate knowledge and use it to make judgements in complex situations, with incomplete information, while keeping in mind social and ethical responsibilities.
- Know the main models of intervention in sports initiation and in the psychology of sport.
- Optimize performance and prioritize the welfare of sportspersons with an ethical commitment.
- Show skills in interpersonal relations with sports agents (trainers, judges, managers, sportspersons and fans) and the families of school-age sportspersons.
- Use scientific terminology to argue the results of research in the context of scientific production, to understand and interact effectively with other professionals.

Learning Outcomes

1. Continue the learning process, to a large extent autonomously.
2. Detect the effectiveness of applying the different techniques (e.g. Career assistance programs, visualisation).
3. Detect the influencing factors and the techniques needed to mitigate or favour them as required.
4. Integrate knowledge and use it to make judgements in complex situations, with incomplete information, while keeping in mind social and ethical responsibilities.
5. Know and apply particular techniques for sports practitioners (e.g. visualisation, or self-talk).
6. Optimize performance and prioritize the welfare of sportspersons with an ethical commitment.
7. Show skills in interpersonal relations with sports agents (trainers, judges, managers, sportspersons and fans) and the families of school-age sportspersons.
8. Synthesise intervention models, and the advantages and disadvantages of applying each one.
9. Use scientific terminology to argue the results of research in the context of scientific production, to understand and interact effectively with other professionals.
