Prerequisites

General prerequisites

Students can register for the TFG provided they have passed 2/3 of the credits of the curriculum, that is, 160 credits.

The TFG is a 4th year second-semester subject.

Students who are registering for the TFG a second time or who can duly justify a personal circumstance will be able to do the TFG during the first semester if the Teaching Committee grants permission.

Since students enrolled in the TFG will have obtained credits in basic training and mandatory second and third year subjects, it is expected that they will express themselves correctly both orally and in writing in any of the languages specific of the degree the student is studying.

Students are expected to know the general presentation guidelines for an academic paper.

Specific prerequisites

Specific prerequisites are determined by the branch of knowledge chosen to carry out the TFG. When the final degree project (TFG) has been assigned to one of the departments that are part of this degree combination, students should check the TFG guides of English Studies Degree or Ancient Studies Degree.

Objectives and Contextualisation

General Aims

The TFG is a piece of work that must allow a global and synthetic assessment of the specific and cross-curricular competences of the degree.

The TFG involves two educational activities:

- Writing an academic paper (15-25 pages long /4000 to 9000 words). The topic has to be related to one of the areas of the English and Classical Degree.
- Oral presentation of the paper in front of a committee.

Specific Aims

Specific aims are determined by the branch of knowledge chosen to carry out the TFG. Please check the TFG guides of English Studies Degree or Ancient Studies Degree.

Competences

- Apply scientific ethical principles to information processing.
- Apply the concepts, resources and methods acquired to the study of the English language in order to understand its diachronic change, as well as its current geographic and social diversity, and to study its acquisition and learning in a global and multilingual society.
- Demonstrate the ability to work autonomously and in teams in order to achieve the planned objectives in multicultural and interdisciplinary contexts.
- Develop arguments applicable to the fields of literature, culture and linguistics and evaluate their academic relevance.
- Interpret written texts in Latin and Greek to learn about classical history and civilizations.
- Make changes to methods and processes in the area of knowledge in order to provide innovative responses to society's needs and demands.
- Students must be capable of collecting and interpreting relevant data (usually within their area of study) in order to make statements that reflect social, scientific or ethical relevant issues.
- Students must be capable of communicating information, ideas, problems and solutions to both specialised and non-specialised audiences.
- Students must develop the necessary learning skills in order to undertake further training with a high degree of autonomy.
- Take sex- or gender-based inequalities into consideration when operating within one's own area of knowledge.
- Understand and produce oral and written academic texts with appropriateness and fluency in distinct communicative contexts.
- Use digital tools and specific documentary sources to gather and organise information.

Content

General Content

Degree project is a compulsory 6-credit subject. The project (TFG) is to be done individually and autonomously under the supervision of a member of the degree teaching staff.

The project must be original and unpublished. Plagiarism will be penalized (fail). Students are to sign a document (see Moodle) declaring that they have not committed plagiarism. This document is to be attached to the paper when it is handed in. Students may choose their topic from any of the branches of knowledge related to their degree.

The student must include a detailed summary (between 5 and 8 pages) of the work carried out, written in the language of combination that was not chosen. The summary must be written in Catalan or Spanish if the TFG is defended in the Department of English. If the TFG is defended in the Department of Ancient Sciences, the summary must be written in English.

The committee will take into account both parts of the written work (produced in different languages), as well as the oral presentation, during which the student will be asked questions in both languages and will be expected to respond accordingly in each.

Specific content

Specific content (topics) is determined by the branch of knowledge chosen to carry out the TFG. Please check the TFG guides of English Studies Degree or Ancient Studies Degree.

General Methodology

This subject has no weekly in-class teaching activities. The teaching methodology is based on the activities detailed in the table. TFGs are done individually.

Students who enroll in the TFG (Final Degree Project) for the second time or have a justified personal circumstance may complete the TFG during the first semester of the 4th year. This option will only be possible if they obtain prior consent from the TFG coordination.

Students on an Erasmus stay may do their TFG in their guest university, except for the oral presentation, which will be done at the UAB and obtain full recognition of their TFG done in the guest university as any other subject.

Supervisor/topic assignment

- Combined Degree students have to choose a branch of knowledge to carry out their TFG.
- The list of supervisors and topics offered will be published during the month of September on Moodle.
- Students will fill in a pre-registration google form and choose 10 preferences (5 preferences per branch).
- Pre-registration forms must be completed considering the deadlines established in the TFG calendar (see Calendar).
- Supervisors will be assigned in November according to transcript average marks.
- The list of assigned supervisors will be published in November.

Assessment

Continuous Assessment Activities

Title	Weighting	Hours	ECTS	Learning Outcomes
Oral presentation	30%-40%	0	0	8, 10, 11, 6, 22
Written paper	60%-70%	0	0	23, 1, 2, 3, 4, 26, 8, 21, 20, 19, 10, 11, 27, 6, 7, 5, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 9, 22, 24, 29, 25, 28

General assessment

The Bachelor's degree final project (TFG) must be written and orally defended in one of the languages of the combination depending on the Department where the TFG is to be carried out. If the TFG is assigned to the Department of English Philology and German Studies, it must be written and defended in English. If it is assigned to the Department of Sciences of Antiquity and the Middle Ages, it must be written in Catalan or Spanish.

The assessment of this subject is based on the continuous assessment of three items and it consists of two parts:

- Written paper = 60% (writing follow-up: between 10% and 20%, finished paper: between 40% and 50%)
- Oral presentation = 40% Both the written part and the oral presentation need to be passed to pass the TFG

In order for the TFG to be evaluated, the student must have completed both parts: the written paper and the oral presentation. If the student does not attend the oral defense or fails it, the maximum grade for the thesis will be 4.

The supervisor's approval is an essential requirement for the submission of the TFG.

Excellent With Honors Award

The qualification Matrícula d'Honor will be awarded by a specific committee taking into consideration the TFG mark and the 3rd and 4th year transcript average (75% TFG, 25% transcript). The committee will be composed by single degree coordinators and the coordinator of the combined degrees.

Publication in the DDD

Those students with a mark ≥ 9 will be asked to edit their work and sign a written consent for the TFG to be published in the UAB's DDD, and will be openly accessible for teaching, research or personal study purposes, except in those cases in which the author explicitly indicates the confidential nature of the TFG, or there are data that cannot be made public because of their private nature, or the author does not explicitly authorize the public access of the paper. In any possible use of the TFG, the author, nature of the paper and its link to the Facultat de Filosofia i Lletres (UAB) must be stated.

Reassessment

Reassessment is not applicable in the TFG.

Single assessment

This subject does not incorporate single assessment.

Plagiarism

In the event of a student committing any irregularity that may lead to a significant variation in the grade awarded to an assessment activity, the student will be given a zero for this activity, regardless of any disciplinary process that may take place.

For this subject, since they are philology degrees, the use of Artificial Intelligence (AI) technologies to generate text or perform translations is not permitted. In all other cases, the use of such technology is subject to the discretion of the TFG's supervisor, with prior written consent from the supervisor specifying the tasks for which the student may use it. The student must clearly identify which parts were generated using this technology, specify how it was used, and include a critical reflection on how it influenced the process and final outcome of the activity. This reflection, together with the supervisor's written consent, must be included as annexes at the end of the paper. Final del formulario Lack of transparency regarding the use of AI in the assessed activity will be considered academic dishonesty; the corresponding grade may be lowered, or the work may even be awarded a zero. In cases of greater infringement, more serious action may be taken.

Specific assessment

Please check the TFG guides of English Studies Degree or Ancient Studies Degree. Oral presentations are mandatory and will take place at the end of June (see Calendar in the Methodology section).

Bibliography

The supervisor will provide the student with general and specific bibliographic references when the assignment to the department where the student will carry out their final degree project (TFG) has been made.
