Objectives

The aim of the subject is to analyze the main social and political structures of Mediterranean civilizations during Antiquity. First, we will focus on the context of the Eastern Mediterranean of the 3rd-2nd millenniums BC, and on the impact of this area on the peripheral Mediterranean areas, affected by the phenomena of exchange, colonizers, migrations and conquests. Secondly, we will focus on those phenomena and events that led to Mediterranean unity, both culturally and politically. It will also be important to delve deeper into the institutional aspect and everyday life issues. In order to achieve our objectives, it will be important to become familiar with the available primary sources (textual and archaeological), which will need to be related to historical interpretations.

Learning outcomes

1. Using suitable terminology when drawing up an academic text.
2. Effectively communicating and applying the argumentative and textual processes to formal and scientific texts.
3. Autonomously searching, selecting and processing information both from structured sources (databases, bibliographies, specialized magazines) and from across the network. Expertly making use of the possibilities of Internet.
4. Mastering the relevant languages to the necessary degree in the professional practice.
5. Mastering and identifying one's own national history.
6. Carrying out oral presentations using an appropriate academic vocabulary and style.
7. Identifying the specific methods of history and their relationship with the analysis of particular facts.
8. Identifying the context of the historical processes.
9. Using the specific technical and interpretational vocabulary of the discipline.
10. Recognising the importance of controlling the quality of the work results and their presentation.
11. Applying both knowledge and capacity for analysis to the resolution of problems related to the field of study.
12. Interpreting material and documentary sources.
13. Identifying the main and secondary ideas and expressing them with linguistic correctness.
14. Using specialized knowledge acquired in an interdisciplinary context when debating.
15. Mastering the general diachronic structure of the past.

16. Mastering the Universal Ancient History.

Learning activities and methodology

Title	Hours	ECTS	Learning outcomes
Practices and seminars	10	0.4	2, 6, 7, 11, 12, 13
Preparation of activities and written tests	45	1.8	1, 2, 3, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13
Tutorials	10	0.4	3, 10
clases teóricas	35	1.4
Preparation of practical activities	15	0.6	1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 15, 16
Reading bibliography	30	1.2	3, 7, 8, 9, 12, 13

- Attendance at theoretical classes led by the teacher.
- Comprehensive reading of texts and interpretation of maps, graphs, tables and archaeological documents.
- Realization of reviews, works and analytical comments.

- Personal study.

Note: 15 minutes of a class will be set aside, within the calendar established by the center/degree, for students to fill in the teacher performance and subject evaluation surveys /module.

Annotation: within the schedule set by the centre or degree programme, 15 minutes of one class will be reserved for students to evaluate their lecturers and their courses or modules through questionnaires.

Assessment

Continuous assessment activities

Title	Weight	Hours	ECTS	Learning outcomes
Work placement	60	3.5	0.14	1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 15, 16
Test	40	1.5	0.06	2, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 14, 15, 16

The evaluation of the subject will be based on 3 grades:

1.- CONTINUOUS ASSESSMENT-A (20% of the final mark): An individual practical activity related to the analysis of primary sources. Practices are mandatory, necessary to take the exam.

2.- CONTINUOUS ASSESSMENT-B (40% of the final grade): An grupal practical activity related to the analysis of specialized bibliography. Practices are mandatory, necessary to take the exam.

3.- EXAM (40% of the final grade): It will be done during class time and will consist of 2 activities: a) the development of a theme, to choose from several options; b) the comment of a literary document or archaeological

To participate in the recovery, the students must have previously been evaluated in a set of activities whose weight is equivalent to a minimum of 2/3 parts of the total qualification (CONTINUOUS EVALUATION) or deliver all the tests provided (SINGLE EVALUATION).

This subject offers the possibility of taking part in a "Single Assessment" which will consist of: 1) Submission of a paper (40%); 2) Multiple-choice exam and short questions (30%); 3) Text commentary: (30%).

Students who do not take all the evaluation exams scheduled in the classroom or do not attend mandatory evaluation activities for a value greater than 30% of the final grade will be graded as Not Assessable, and will not be able to attend retakes.

In the event that the student commits any type of irregularity that may lead to a significant variation in the grade of an evaluation act, this will be graded with 0, regardless of the disciplinary process that may result from it. In the event that several irregularities are verified in the evaluation acts of the same subject, the final grade for this subject will be 0.

In this subject, the use of Artificial Intelligence (AI) technologies is allowed as an integral part of the development of the work, as long as the final result reflects a significant contribution of the student in the analysis and personal reflection. The student will have to: (i) identify which parts have been generated with AI; (ii) specify the tools used; and (iii) include a critical reflection on how these have influenced the process and the final result of the activity. The non-transparency of the use of AI in this evaluable activity will be considered a lack of academic honesty and result in the activity being evaluated with a 0 and not being able to recover, or greater sanctions in serious cases.

The schedule of the assessment tests may not be modified (except in justified exceptional cases).

Erasmus students who request to bring an exam forward must present the teacher with a written document from their home university justifying their request.
