

Reflection on the module

Module 5: Linguistic Diversity, Creativity and Social Transformation

Please reflect on the following questions:

Your linguistic biography

Create your linguistic biography: what languages are there inside your own? Where do they come from? How do they combine or struggle with each other? What do you feel for them? Tell us some of your stories, thoughts, dreams, anecdotes, clichés, visions ...having to do with languages. Think of some experience of translation: does it go beyond the simple linguistic act to say things in another language? Why? Compare with digital translation: does it produce the same outcomes?

Create and innovate through languages

We are now aware of several efforts to foster integration and social transformation through artistic productions and innovative enterprises, often with the help of new technologies. Do you know any project in which art and/or innovation have played a role in encouraging diversity?
