

Reflection on the module

Module 3: People Movements and Linguistic Diversity

Please reflect on the following questions:

Languages in motion

Tell us about your experience related to languages and mobility. If you or your family migrated to another place, what have you done with your native language/s? Does the host society recognize them? How? How do you interact with local languages? And with other languages spoken in the place? What do you learn from the contact with new languages and cultures? To what extent do you feel integrated in the host society? What is the role played by languages in your integration and participation? What should be made in order to enhance integration and participation?

Languages living together

Observe the city you live in: what languages can you here? Do you identify all of them? In what historical context did new languages arrive to your place? How do languages of immigration interact with local languages? Is there any form of recognition of newcomers' languages? Which is the language of communication between locals and immigrants? Which is the lingua franca among different communities of speakers? What is to be done with languages of immigration? What do you learn from the contact with new languages and cultures?
