INTRODUCTION

This bibliography has been compiled by the European Documentation Center \(CDE\) of the Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona \(UAB\) as a documentary support service for CEI International Affairs. It brings together a curated selection of recent publications and resources, chosen for their relevance to key issues shaping the contemporary world. It is intended to support students preparing for a career in diplomacy and to contribute to a broader understanding of the political, economic, social and international context in which contemporary diplomacy takes place. It is not intended to be an exhaustive bibliography, but rather a selective guide to publications considered particularly useful for this purpose.

This edition continues the bibliography published in autumn 2023. It does not repeat the documents included in the previous edition; rather, it complements and updates it with publications and resources released from 2023 onwards.

The bibliography includes open-access online documents, restricted-access resources, and publications available in print. For restricted-access resources, please check whether access is available through your institution.

Print publications may be available in the libraries of Catalan universities and can be accessed through the Consortium of University Services of Catalonia \(CSUC\) library consortium borrowing service. Some titles, however, are not available in university libraries. In these cases, they may be obtained through purchase or interlibrary loan.

The European Documentation Center, located at the Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona, provides its services to users throughout the province of Barcelona. We offer information and documentation services, answer enquiries, support research and teaching, and promote knowledge of the European Union.

If you need further information or assistance in locating EU-related resources, you are welcome to contact us. We also recommend visiting Europa a la UAB, our information and dissemination portal on the European Union. In particular, you may find our Guide to EU Information Sources and its selection of websites especially useful for finding reliable information and documentation on the European Union.

You can also contact us through our contact form or subscribe to our weekly newsletter.
