Module 5
Unit 2: Voice-over
Task 2

Aim(s):
- Learners can identify the challenges of incorporating audio introductions, audio description and audio subtitles in a voiced-over content.

Grouping: individual and groups.

Approximate timing: 60 minutes.

Material and preparation needed:

Development:
1. Ask learners to read the two selected articles. You may also want to ask them to watch the Additional video which deals with this topic.
2. Group discussion in class on the impact of voice-over on audio description, audio introductions and audio subtitles.
Module 5
Unit 2: Voice-over
Task 3

Aim(s):
- To learn about the main features of voice-over.

Grouping: individual and groups.

Approximate timing: 90 minutes.

Material and preparation needed:
- Reading list for Module 5 - Unit 2.

Development:
1. Distribute selected readings among learners and ask them to read one article on voice-over at home. You can expand the reading list with local or more updated references (individual activity at home).
2. Ask learners to watch a voiced-over content of their choice and write down if the main features of voice-over, which should have been explained in class, are kept (individual activity at home).
3. In class, group discussion on the features of voice-over. It is important to identify whether the theoretical features are always kept or if there is variation in real practice.
4. As a second stage, the discussion can approach the challenges of providing audio description, audio subtitles (if necessary) and audio introductions to voiced-over content in comparison with original, dubbed or subtitled productions.
Module 5
Unit 2: Voice-over
Task 4

Aim(s):
- Learners are aware of the challenges of incorporation audio description and audio subtitles in a voiced-over film.

Grouping: in pairs.

Approximate timing: 60 minutes.

Material and preparation needed:
- A 30-minute excerpt from a film with voice-over and audio description, and ideally with audio subtitles. This will only be possible in certain language combinations.

Development:
1. Learners watch the voiced-over and audio described excerpt in class. Ask them to make a list of challenges.
2. Group discussion on the main challenges of incorporation audio description in a voiced-over film. The discussion can be expanded to analyse how audio subtitles and audio introductions could be integrated in voiced-over content.
