

THE WARM
WOOLY
REVIEW
NUMBER
THIRTY...

T H E W O R M W O O D R E V I E W

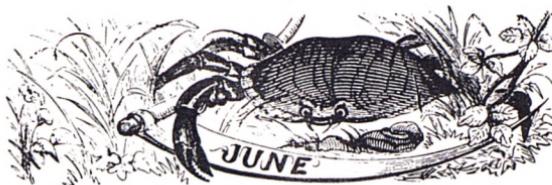

Volume 8, number 2

Issue number 30

Editor: Marvin Malone; Art Editor: A. Sypher

Copyright © 1968, The Wormwood Review

Editorial and subscription offices: P. O. Boxes 101 and 111, Storrs, Connecticut, 06268, U. S. A.

Grace

You are in the dining car ordering breakfast; a thin man enters in a new suit. He sits across from you. You smile.
He talks about his job, about his wife. He is shorter than you; he would tell you anything.
When his tray comes, he reaches into his vest, produces a pair of flesh-colored gloves. He puts the left one on. He puts the right one on before lifting a fork.
You do not ask a question.

-- Dennis Trudell

Selinsgrove, Pa.

At Dusk

Starved wolves and bears slink away from large, silent men in goggles, machine guns lashed to their backs, who zigzag skis between still pines to stare across a northern border at one another.

While in a country nearer the sun, the old people of a wine village walk after supper to a small park to watch carousal lights go around and listen to its music and listen to descendants.

How does any philosopher ever sleep?

The Guest

If one day you are walking along and suddenly decide to ring the bell of a lower front flat near the center of the city, and you do, and a woman in a paisley housedress answers, asks what you want and you can't think of anything to say, just stand there until finally she smiles, says you must be Margie's friend and Margie ain't home yet from whatchacallit, beauty school, come inside and wait, and you walk into a coffiny parlor, nod at a chairbound old crone who smells like wet carpets, sit paging Life for May 7, 1963 and listening to the paisley woman wonder from the kitchen whether you've ate yet and enjoy sauerkraut -- and as you say no you haven't and yes you do, although you hate it, the door opens and a girl in white with improbablycolored hair, gum, and a rather nice figure comes in, says hi and you say hi and start to introduce yourself when you hear the housedress coming, ask instead to use the bathroom, follow the shrug and forefinger into the dining room (nodding at the paisley on the way), then duck into the kitchen, out the back door, and into the crowded kitchen across the hall -- whose door happens to be open and where some sort of family reunion or something is under way and a female NCO-type is urging everyone to come in and be seated, and so you follow into the adjoining room, are seated, and start helping yourself from various bowls handed round, meanwhile making small talk with those on each side, a fat man with a cold and a woman who suspects her son has not married wisely, and also joining in the general laughter at the jokes of a horned-rimmed man spilling food at the far end, which proves a mistake because as your head is back in mirth a hard roll smotes you on the shoulder and you can't decide whether it was thrown by the small boy behind the peas or the thirtyish woman with slattern eyes who keeps looking over at you and who either by design or accident slips into the chair on your right when dessert is over and everybody is herded into an ashtrayed parlor to watch slides of the host's recent trip to Columbus, Ohio -- which slides go on and on until you begin losing interest and stick your hand up into the beam of light and start making shadow animal heads while everyone either laughs or whispers "Sssh" and the host says "Okay, let's knock it off," but you don't and he says it a couple of more times and you hear even the horned-rimmed fellow and the small boy and the woman with slattern eyes join in with "Hey. Enough is enough" and so on, but you keep doing it until the host moves cursing to a wall and turns on the overhead light just as you softly click the front door shut and hurry across the hallway to knock upon its twin.

Going to Pittsburgh

In and between the cities
the go-go girls are bluffing.
They really will not step down and lie on a corner table.

The men prefer the ones who look most like coeds.
The men have come there from factories or softball.

Their eyes do not love one another's eyes; their wives or girlfriends are home changing sheets or channels.

And their in-laws fail to understand them, their sons wear faggoty hair -- Something is hungry; it is not fed.

In and between the cities
the night is ungenerous.
The pizza and hamburgers are thin; hitchhikers freeze.

The car-hops don't jounce.
The motels are unfriendly; their neon dims. Their walls are sick of self-abortions.

Something is hungry; it is not fed -- In and near cities the martinis aren't working.
The heads of industry are sad.

Their candidates don't win.
Their alma maters won't let them re-enroll; their suicide notes have comma splices.

In and between the cities
the stares of the Negroes are causing cigarette burns in beds of the middle class.

The husbands do not know how to load the small arms they have bought for summer.
They think often of Sweden.

They think that in rooms behind drapes in Negro bars the Navajos learn karate, and soon they will be right.

Something in and between the cities is hungry; it is not fed. This is no season to learn the names of birds --

It is no time for that.

-- Dennis Trudell

From an Old Dylan Thomas Fan wander against him Scuzi.

"It's all right," he says like the other Dylan and he motions politely for the parade to pass.

What a lovable mime
in his bowing,

as those who sing well often move just right.

I say I see what you are doing
though they would

pry up flagstones for your -- ummmmm --"return."

I say I understand but he says ah ooga and halloo in his horn and offs again.

Exiles

She told the paparezzi of David in the Porfumo.
They ate on the terrace.
Orange skins on the canal festered.
When a rat passed
she never stopped talking just said oh there's a rat and knocked ashes from her candy cigarette.

Ready or Not

Last tabs I said last tabs.
A game I played with Death.

The white desk
leaned in the open window.
Near the elbow-leaning wall the toad stool
on the damp loam
blinks.

Outside
moves the accordian
to ask the river
that geese form
one upside down what air asks
of screen.

Last tabs.

-- Ellen Tiffet

Elmira, New York

Nocturne for Another Night

Voluptuous Evangeline, who sports an auburn wig, tells me, with a twisted smile, it never rains but it bores.

Profile

You,
in your bran new butterscotch-plaid,
steel goggles and Florida hair-do,
swinging down the avenue,
all set for come what may.

You,
in your snub toes,
panty-hose,
and flashing silver heels, making the psychedelic scene in the cool, cool edge of the evening.

Back Porch

Trading reminiscences, two ancients rock
away the day

each striving to his utmost to outdo the other's boasts.

No Dice

We'd dated to meet in a sidewalk cafe somewhere this side of nirvana but somehow
I couldn't remember her face
nor could she remember mine.

-- Charles Shaw

New York, New York

fr the Journals

...they run from the Baths, Roman ruins, with one extant column or corner -- earthen bricks with no mortar and a silicate gabbro as base -- in straight lines to the palace. Flat gardens: most of the sculpture removed from the pedestals with the names of their saints chiseled in.
A pool, a fountain, some late rhododendrons.
It is hard to tell,
are the statues gone because it is autumn, or were they lost. sold?

neat beds of flowers.

Greg pointed out that even the nymphaea are clustered so they would not interrupt the reflected facade.

(gardens)

...of recent design. The gilt of the Palace is chipping. It is a museum.

The gardens are spotless; flowers for all seasons, & trees.

Christopher cried. His mother tried to keep him out of the rain.

The east hall, a Roman construction, is now a church, a barren construction.

We took the road south from Trier ... the people are cold.

since Iconium
in and out of Galatia,

Assos

Alexandria Troas

Phillipi

then Appollonia, & into this place.

You'd be surprised

how often it did rain & the days of foul weather on the Sea of Elisha -- forgetting my people this once. (If I were not a Roman...)

it is raining this day, as we wait again for the boat to carry us south to Achaia,

as I read back in my journal.

It has rained three days this past week!

I asked one of the men who came in, a fisherman; you know how close they remain to the weather. I had forgotten somehow, in my talking with Sestus.
Five days in this place...

the food is poor.

How often I find that remark!

and once again lice...

* * *

My friend,

hit one of their small deer tonight. coming into my head lights
c. 3 miles west of the village. He danced some few seconds; his back side white like our mtn. elk's, on spindly legs.
He ran towards me,

then turned,
danced in the road. His small head -- without horns -- switching from side to side.
The road is raised, approaching a bridge. He rose up just as I hit him.

There was nothing to do....

:kerosene
beans for marcia more rope, and lt twine complete the small file book(s)
find out where to get whole wheat flour (grain) The new boots are still stiff. one of the workers told me the custom -- the method -- to soften.
Using the stuff that he'd get me, spreading it on them, then standing them outside the door for a night so the devil cld use em.

one of the natives was sick;
we took her into Ciudad.
Brian says she will die: they all do.
On buses, when you're tumbled against them, they never give. They remain as they are; but their bodies are soft and unchanged. as if they accept you, yr elbow yr knee. They'll laugh.

Their bodies are hard and mutated, especially the women.

...whitefish. Far west of Lake Tegid.
Will sleep in an eddy of the kyle near the south shore, a place I discovered this morning, escaping the sun.
It is safe: shallow, but far enough from the shore where the low precipice rises, some trees, alders and oaks, give it cover.
She is a pike now, I'm sure, or a shark coming in from the sea.

3rd Day

She came as an otter.
Fast upon midnight; the moonlight catching her fur and lutrine clawed feet -- my eyes not yet used to the water. Escaped as a bird, becoming this sparrow.

Heading back for Penllyn, the forests I knew as a child in Cuereinion where the towhees and sparrows chatter, fly in and out of the poplars, as large as their leaves, and as many.

4th Day

-- John Enright

New York, New York

6 Sixty Second Plays for Actors and/or Puppets

Telephone

(Ushers with key chain flashlights have seated audience in total darkness.)
Spotlight on a telephone booth. After 10 seconds the bell begins to ring. Lights slowly come on revealing a mass of gravestones as far as the eye can see. Gravestones hang down from the ceiling and stick out of the walls of the entire theatre. The entire theatre is brilliantly lit and terribly bright.
At 60 seconds the phone stops ringing and the lights go out.

三三三

* The number of plays and the length of the plays may or may not be accurate. Copyright © A. Boyajian, 1967.

Mr. and Mrs. Malthus

Spotlights come on. A MAN opens a pack of Ramses, takes one out and begins blowing it up like a balloon. The WOMAN opens a bottle of pills, takes one out and with a sip of water swallows it. A loud gulping sound is heard. The spot over the WOMAN goes out and comes on again. She repeats the action. Both spots go out and a loud pop of a balloon is heard. The lights quickly go on and the MAN and WOMAN with a hundred kids of all sizes and colors are on stage. These can be photos. At 60 seconds the lights go out.

Opera Box

Seven golden picture frames light up. Inside of each is a vagina. A selection from an opera is heard very loud. (The director, on seeing the vaginas, should decide what selection is appropriate. Everytime there is a new order of vaginas, the director should reconsider his operatic selection.) Lights and music out at 60 seconds.

Kotex

Lights up on a wall of Kotex boxes that reach the ceiling, 45 seconds. Blood pours down over the entire wall of boxes, 15 seconds. Lights quickly out.

Enrico Caruso Plays This Clown, See

Lights on 5 WOMEN and 1 MAN in varying stages of dress. They are enclosed in a set of mirrors. (Music very low of Enrico Caruso. The music grows louder and louder and louder.) They are seated at vanity tables and are applying Mum to their armpits, 55 seconds. (Music full blast.) All the mirrors break. Lights out at 60 sec.

Where's Burt Lancaster?

A trapeze with a LADY on it swings back and forth, left to right. A film of the exact same thing is projected, but from right to left. The center of the stage is lighted, but the edges are in total darkness so that the real LADY and the projected lady cannot be seen when they swing all the way out. On the 31st second the trapezes swing out and come back without a lady on either trapeze. The real trapeze and projected trapeze swing in smaller and smaller arcs. Lights out at 60 seconds.

The Typist

Lights on. In a fully lit theatre, the sound of a typewriter striking X's for 60 seconds. Lights out.

It's Later Later Than You Think

5 TV screens all going full blast and all on different channels. Next to each set there is a couple. Couple one are in chairs eating. Couple two are on toilet seats. Couple three are in bed making love. Couple four are opening and closing ice boxes (called by some refrigerators). Couple five are brushing their teeth. Lights and TV sets go out at 60 seconds.

Fifty-Five and Five

Lights go on for 55 seconds. Total darkness for 5 seconds. Repeat until audience leaves. If there is no audience, then that's what infinity is.

-- Aram Boyajian

New York, New York

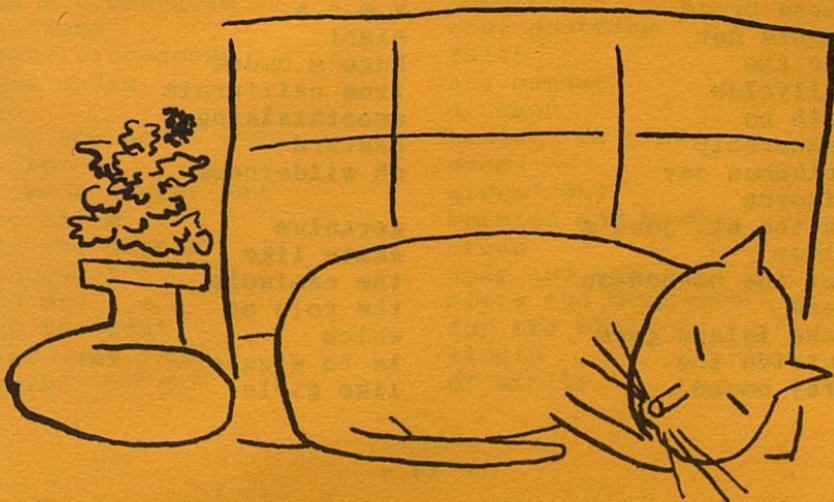

Still available and still highly recommended, a few copies left: Christopher Perret Memorial Volume, 215 pages, well printed ($3.00) -- includes published and unpublished poems, prose pieces; correspondence; also translations; tributes; and all abundantly illustrated. Many facsimilies and other documents. The text is in English -- with tributes in other languages in the original with English translation. Write: Poésie Vivante, 11 rue Hoffmann, Geneva, Switzerland.

G E R A N I U M

B Y

C H R I S T O P H E R P E R R E T

christa malone

G E R A N I U M

-- for Tom Lipps,
a peaceful man

geranium
red like
you
buffy sainte-marie excuse me for plucking you from the sea
like this freedom now winding its way through factories blood red rivers
later
land of the cacique
and the shorter seminole the wasp-like oriole
america in the everglades for the striking lightening-bolt where bread counts not for the billyclub
with no membership columbus day
minorca
on the st. john's river
but the bashed-in head wake island guam outside the grey hound

bus-station door glass lights in washington
d. c.
2 am boy
boy-man fourteen wide-eyed asleep afraid pout-faced tears in my heart clenched boy-man fist
the victory farm camp
left behind across the wide chesapeake bay and long slim busses bursting slow-
motion into the truck-
farm
flat-cars blood blood on the highway and the broken whiskey bottle in a man's hip-pocket black
y.m.c.a.
night
hugo's nudes
from california smoothtalking bastard
oh wilderness
geranium
white like the camisole
the role of which is to giggle
like girls

over footprints of muddy knowledge dragging chains through backyard
knifings
deep into death
why weep?
why ask questions?
why answer
hands lifting clean lifting clean linen
from the pile?
mrs. murphy's tuesday laundry moral of drunken judgements silencing the grave
with a hurtling
brick
through the gravel
missed!
raising new sites of glass-eyed buildings
deaf to the cries of
of the street below blind to the lies stripped bare the aspidistra
old man in a brown-gold uniform revolving-doors
yes madam
no
why you don't even talk like a nigger man no ma'am
in the sheets
hung-out
to dry in the soot get away from here!

this is a respectable
death to the children rickety with catalepsis
six-stories down into the neighborhood
limbo
yes sir cock-roaches scum red communism
no
I was in the navy
grey-skinned and naked summertime skip
st. patrick's day
and the schools of bloated
carp up-river east to the hudson scavengers uptown
to the zionist coalyards up the harlem
river
on the back of a loan-shark
what pounding faith
all sunday drummed behind the pink-green
storefront?
spanish and brown
dread spic and span empty the beer-cans for the black virgin of sicily

guineas and fig-
trees
for all yesterdays
back home
back home
back home
never more to naples angelo
the clanking of cranes and liberty cracked flibbertigibbet
of moses downtown
with a shoulder full of furs
into thumbnails doughnuts
into swallowtails
nedicks
into plastic pails and fists
of beaten flounder
barking in the fulton fish market
its unleavened
promise
from the bunds of new jersey
through the holland tunnel
of brother forever
uphill push the stone syphilis
by the sweat of your foreskin
and breath
of the tonsure and bursting
of the illuminated manuscripts
of the cloisters
of your schnabel
and brow

geranium

pink like sunset
of the congo flying into winter on the balsa wood wings
of the shoeless dervish
blackfoot and stork
and the plastic bomb
and you
flamingo
graceful bird all rainbow
and turning from bayou
wreck of the oil-rig barge banana magnolia
into my only yesterday
thank you for nights
without moon
on the knifeblades
of decatur street
past the french market
I have wandered through eugene o'neil
into chinese lanterns
of illusion and spice
my norwegian bourbon street wife yellow-haired slanteyed of lapland
my forgotten victrola soft-hipped sounds of afro-cuba songs of the yoruba waiting on tables
on the gulf

yawning
from honduras
by the light of spanish fly
in the shuffling slippered-floors
of the mexican tacos enchiladas
between draughts
from the candlelight taps of the brothers laffite I wandered
through
cajun
and the cotton-carrying railroads of the middle-south from federal warehouse
to fire
by the tank-town station tin-roofed shacks
in the dusty sun of noon
I wandered

geranium
streaked with red like anarchy
black
with blood congealed

geranium of the tatra red and white and pink
in the green windowbox of the whitewashed house

geranium cut into carnival ribbons geranium conga geranium samba
geranium specking the sky over water
black with fires

golden with the pipe-like barracuda
tin-like with the steel-band oil drum
geranium still with the knowledge of death
inextricable
oh water
oh earth and sky
oh fire on the mountains of the romero

geranium
red white pink like silver hair plucked on banjos
of catgut love tucked round the corpses
of the old
women
widows who have died
unshaved
unashamed

their children given to the millstone
and the bayonet
for chewing-tobacco spat into the open wound festered from the centuries

of deprivation
on land and on sea
free-man and slave to coffee
and gold diamond

and sugar-cane drunk from the shoots
to the god of the dried twig
and strangling
grass bread from the indian corn

molasses from skin
black as the thief's heart burnt
on a spit on the roasting fire
oh lord
hanging from a tree like me
blown by the wind
of the caribees breeding the pollen
of a soul
sewn on armbands crossed-arms
cross of lorraine lions full-grown crucified
in lybia
on a hill
against the sunset salambo
as an ugly threat
their tawny manes
blowing on the wind
of calvary
stitched into medals virgin mary made of felt
oh sacred heart
kyrie eleison
for the curled-up shoes
one following another around the world
humphry bogart
circle of plenty
and a fathomless
heart
joseph conrad korzeniowski
but when? and where?
the iron sea
the eyes upturned
of the darkskinned pilgrim

oh where? and when?
for the many
expendable
has it changed?
since the beginning?
this multitude of sins unrequited
is there justice
for the many
can the few ever know what veil blackens
their eyes
layer upon layer millenium upon millenium
from the bright colors of a heaven without name or religion or selection or precondition or place or time whether here and now
or elsewhere
behind another mountain of another life
in another skin of another mortal thing?
forever
loincloth message misunderstood purged
always in the blood of a man once god love always pride of the christian an ugly curse mahatma
peace had cupped

for the handful of rice
mahatma
jesus of galilee
gave birth to the heathen kiss
money
money
money
for the giver in purgatory
who owns the life and soul of the receiver
cracked
on its cradle of straw for the ass to champ
for the ox to trample into a wilderness of untended fields
the men have gone to war
oh lord
the women are left to weep
for memory pressed between the pages of a book
lying on a table
by the cold cold
bed of the missing achilles ulysses smoking potato leaves in the trenches
stinking of lucre
in the rising stock of the exchange
at least one life times all those punctured
helmets
away rolling back with the changing

seasons
over the hill's roundabout of yesterdays
I lose my footing on the scaffoldings of tomorrow loosed like a ravenous
wolf
into the shopkeeper's
schoolboy's conscript's everyday oh yes
I remember you
and you
and the dust collected on my feet
and the leaf grown from my hand
and the flower which was my face and the freedom so naturally
burst from my soul
one day
not long ago when whipped I sat dry-eyed
in herod's cellars
and watched the rat scratching for grain among the chaff
between the flags of the dungeon floor martin luther king
walks through the streets
the blackfaced
minstrels
as roman soldiers play dice waiting their turn caddies at the country club

for dead solicitors bankers
bishops and generals
the green is soft
with its eighteen holes
and the pastures
green
stand beyond the pale and doff their hats
and grin
with not unhappy ignorance of milk and honey which flows across the jordan
for all who know and can believe in songs of plenty for all
who toil
and sleep their toil.
in dreams of soil grown ripe with happiness
for all
filling the bucket with spools of tears
wrung from quenched
fears for what is done cannot be undone
by added cares
of the old
and the young

geranium
blue like unabashed gloom lizards
a moment in the sun mosquitoes thriving in the stagnant

water of a broken jar
and schools of phantoms screaming a thousand languages of angry longing for armies of naked women
bearing arms
spiked from their wombs
feeding the monster from a hacked-off
breast and herring waiting for wars patiently in tins
so that the seas
will be theirs again
and pilchards
mackerel
and cod feeling much the same awaiting the end of the day when sunsets are gay and rhymed once more through the window-
panes glittering on the empty plates and the steaming tureens
of soup green with large turtles speared
from the ocean's mouth
washing certain islands off the coast of chile
where a one-legged weather-man dies all alone

by a busted transmitter
an ax stuck in the wall
holding an empty gin bottle
and stroking the half-wild cat murmuring
to the fathers chewed
by machines and yet unborn
to the trodden generations pickled and sliced
to their unborn
sons
in the jewish graves burned on the hindu
pyres unmarked
in the christian plots
dizzy with crosses so many marking unknown borders through the wild grass
of when-will-it-end flapping the air
with the leather wings of flattened windmills
oh knight sad night
oh proverbose squire smiling
your bygone messages of a wisdom unheeded
in the parking-lots of caracas
in the magnificent architectural wonders of brasilia
in the spring-flowered ocean of the ukraine in the gutted churches of the marne

in the sweat-shops of chicago
in the catacombs of new york
through the graveyard cities of old india
through the blueclad farmlands
of new china
through your own bonelike
la mancha
clicking round the wheel of the casinos lapping the hulls of sleeping yachts
empty with the frenetic
day
dull with the lapwing
nights
of picadilly
times square via veneto
and place pigalle
die!
die!
die!
is the cry
for tomorrow there is danger
you may live in the mountain and on the sea and caught up in the opening sky

geranium
golden like the sun
why don't you
blush
with the thorn pricking
your breast
motive is crazy like the locomotive
but steam will bust

the lid
like a gigantic roman-candle
from the heady brew
and all will spill
oh world
and all will spill

November 27, 1965

-- Christopher Perret

Deya, Mallorca

3 dec 67

... With this note you'll find a copy of Christopher's poem G E R A N I U M.... As you can see from the date of composition, it is one of the last things CP wrote and very probably his last long poem.... Chris had for sometime been experimenting with short line forms (so had I and we discussed it off and on) that would follow the breaks and pauses of the declaiming voice. And he had been feeling his way towards a deeper larger human statement (which unfortunately turned out to be a final utterance!). I feel that this integration of new form and new voice takes place in G E R A N I U M. He would no doubt have done some revising (he always did), if only that natural period of waiting that confirms that there's nothing to change -- but we'll never know now what changes he might have made.... Life like death is no respecter of persons!

Tom Lipps (of the dedication), who was very close to Chris the last weeks of his life and was the first person to whom the poem was shown and read, made copies of it, shortly after Christopher's death, in Mati's house on that Deya cliff on Christopher's own typewriter. My last contact with Tom was about a year ago. He has since completely disappeared -- a very Lipps thing to do! He had given me a copy and I showed it to the Poésie Vivante people when I saw them in Paris. They were very enthusiastic and wanted to include it in the Memorial, but there wasn't enough space left and it was too late to redesign the book....

16 dec 67

... It would be so very appropriate that the poem come out in Wormwood, as CP so often appeared there and was exceptionally fond of Wormwood.... Your readers are well acquainted with him. And to know that G E R A N I U M would thus be permanently preserved in all major libraries in the English speaking countries is a most satisfying thought....

Regarding an introduction to the poem. If it is possible to contact Tom Lipps, he might have something valuable to contribute.... He was perhaps the only person Chris read the poem aloud to and the person he spoke to the most about the poem and its sources. Tom gave me a few brief indications. It seems Christopher wrote the entire poem at one sitting, probably through one long night of inspiration. He read it to Tom early the next morning. The beginning is autobiographical, every detail referring to the exact events and impressions of a certain moment and place. The opening lines invoke a folk (and blues?) singer Buffy Sainte-Marie (unknown to me). The police "bash" in the head of a drunken war veteran in front of a greyhound bus station. This brutal act is witnessed by the 14 year old CP who is in transit (returning home?). This must have happened in 1944.... He discussed many other details with Tom, explaining personal allusions and movements of thought and image deriving from particular incidents in his life. But -- how to find Tom Lipps?! I will try through Anne Hedley and David Allen -- except for these two contacts, I've no idea where to look....

All the best!

Harry
Harry Bell

Copenhagen, Denmark

C Peret

l i t t l e l o r d d e a t h

no it wasn't tom lipps it was little lord death
himself
hiding behind the door

i was careful to take a bright light in hand and a sharp knife

before i opened to E S V I V E*

gold clock with a red face beside the bed to remind me that hours are approaching looking through glass at the flaming cribs in the maternity ward

there's a high wind on my totem pole blowing across morning toward darkness

spiders work the night in cold black depths of space weaving a luminous poison

* The Ibizenco name of an old water trap in the sea where netted fish were imprisoned alive, and on the same site, bearing the same name, a present day outlying district of Ibiza City where this poem was written in 1963.

buy me a pen mother you wouldn't let me play and now i'm too old to run through the streets looking for sticks

your cunt is the typewriter of my soul my finger tips touch the keys to write of holy states the latch broke in my hand i left the door thinking of old men and nursing a broken finger nail

harriet k. i take thee now to be my awfully wedded wife oh no i don't!
but want you only
in my enraged being hurtling to doom
hold me now a little that seeking lips may meet

a mouthful of mud
a glass of water and you screaming in my wilderness daffy little dog doodle makes green bottles laugh in the cellar of her hand any flower petals today given good god after easter eggs are broken leaving colors to die on dirty hands

panty
flower painting poem chocolates

dry throated swallow her hurt lips finger-tipped while the baby cries and from the floor
the cat looks up

burned her candle stick like a codpiece smouldering he dreaming of "only a woman's hair" swift stella! where is love?

GONE

in your empty house in the dust of a thousand footsteps my cigarette butt glows -- dying my love has a big house where she sleeps in a little room behind a locked door i sleep by the fireplace with the other dogs

like the spider waiting in the web like the wasp --
her nest

the tranquilizer on the floor on edge
if the wind blows hard will roll roll accumulating dust like a white wheel that fist rammed through the wall is it yours?

 no sly grins!
and be careful of the plaster and the lathing the landlord is a sensitive man!

screaming hinges
writing letters in the wind the sun outside roaring on the rocks the taste of last night in my mouth shut all the drawers cork all the bottles turn off the taps and screw your imagination to the bed

belt buckle bent broken fly
spots on pants
that'll never dry

walking up and down in ibiza town
with a s t i c k flaming in his teeth
like mighty god
a little man from far away has come to flirt with death and play the horn and walk the hills and drink the sea down to its rills four a.m.

engine throb
taxi?
to where?

tying your shoe
i fainted into the crotch of your beauty thighs subtle roundness holding doom

with bits of bone and rusty wire
i'll make a box for my desire
 oh space oh flames
oh hook of time

i salute you old friend!
death be with you till we meat again!
yellow urine in your yellow cup skol with the skull if your head be gone!

how does he move to enter night how does he go into death blood birds wind owls raising stones against the tide let him plunge into the silent waters burning stones

beat dark space crying death
in air's black face

PLAGUE

a prodigious number in itself add no reasons you don't have to believe thousands died a week courage failed those bearing dead and the city was peopled with terror and confusion

i saw a woman of such proportions that she could suckle
all the children
of vietnam

no
greater breasts
has any man

-- Harry Bell

Copenhagen, Denmark

My Guardian Angel

by Günter Grass

He pours me out:
the baby with the bath.

I don't like to jump:
Whoever jumps falls into favor.

No matter how much I resist, he calibrates the scales.

If I want to go with my aunt, he protects my niece.

If I break windows to bits, he deals in putty.

And if I get lost, my finder is right there beside me.

Song of the Bread in the Oven

by Günter Grass

Bread, where does the bread stop where does the cake begin?

And that baker
who is white and dyspeptic made us with his fingers.

And that baker
who lost his hair to the meal worm took us on wooden paddles.

And that baker
who had made us with his fingers stayed outside with his fingers.

And that baker
who stayed outside
had some dough under his thumbnail.

And that baker
who did not like to eat bread thought that he was baking bread.

But we are not bread.
We are stones
which fall through you.

And that baker
whom we nourish smiles -- Why?

-- translated by Alexander Taylor and Adeline Theis

Storrs, Connecticut

No Hole in the Sky

coming through the doorway a lump of cancer along the inside of his left leg he wore a green silk shirt old-fashioned black and white shoes the hair clipped all over his head but the face needing a shave wrinkled yellow pants dark shades
he gave the note to the teller who was female went crazy and screamed he hit her across the face with the gunbutt reached for a handful of twenties from the drawer and turned in time to get the uniformed guard a fat guy, very big butt, grew roses, name: Rossard.

Rossard went down on the big fat butt a very beautiful red coming out on his shirt like roses.

the bandit started running crouched, rather half-sideways toward the door looking for somebody to shoot looking for a hole in the sky to climb out of there.
the people seemed to fit into the walls and he made it outside still running half-bent and then the squad car came from the other way he saw it
and ran up an alley.
the 2 cops jumped right out and also ran up the alley.
then you heard shots very loud in that dark alley between downtown buildings (the violence and gamble and anger of all men screaming) (then it was quiet) (you thought of bread baking in some clean kitchen) when the ambulance came they carried out one cop put him in first then carried out the bandit in cuffs very white and bleeding, they put him in the same ambulance, and the other cop who was standing waiting holding his wrist where he had been shot the red coming through the white wrapping he fainted
and then they put him in and drove off and the people stood talking and talking and talking.

-- Charles Bukowski

Los Angeles, California

Fourth of July in Connecticut: 1968

MADE IN JAPAN

6 Pieces.

Magic Snakes--light at end--will form
into a large Snake-- will not bite.

MAGIC SNAKES

GUARANTEED NOT TO CONTAIN ANY POISON.
MAGIC SNAKES

The Pellets
should be ignited only on a non-combustible
surface and away from combustible
materials.

-- M. K. Book

Lincoln, Nebr.

The Great American Hair Fetish

1. The Proposition

Boys' hair is too long and girls' too short.
As with cats, you have to look between their legs to tell.
This isn't good.

2. The High School Principal's Bad Dream

On Monday every pupil comes in bald. On Tuesday they all come in drag.
Wednesday, they don't show up at all. Thursday the football team is pregnant all but one.
Friday the girls come in in miniskirts and don't wear underwear; they've shaved their pubic hair.
On Saturday his wife breaks out with acne and on Sunday they despair.

3. Alarmed, the Townspeople Act

Barbers lower their rates but only parents come.
Something must be done.
The town must be remade a decent place to live.
Everyone under twenty-one is shaved smooth as an egg.
The principal has this funny feeling: deja vu.
No force is used that isn't justified in isolated instances: resisting arrest.

4. Exorcism

O may this house be safe from dope fiends & their peer groups, from activists & pacifists, from bodily & mental illness & clammy adolescent sex.

5. The Aftermath

Supermarket managers and pharmacists become the first civil libertarians: their shelves are clogged with Brecht, Vitalis, Brylcream, Head & Shoulders and the rest. Vending machines in gas stations' mens' rooms continue to dispense 2-for-a-quarter prophylactics (for the prevention of disease only) at a brisk pace but haven't moved a comb in weeks. Perhaps we were too hasty, some are willing to suggest the barbers raise their prices back. The town relents. It's May and warming up. The kids have itchy growing hair but still come home too late. The parents don't protest too much: they're digging in for another long hot summer.

-- William Matthews

Aurora, New York

Reply to an Academic Dean

Dear Mr. Pinsker,
Saw your poem in College English and I enjoyed it very much. Hope to see more of them soon.

Sincerely,
Kenneth O'Brien, Dean

So you'd like to see more of them soon...
But do you think words spill on paper like concrete And harden quickly into poetic canons?
(Good, I admit, for holding up administrations Or, in your case, blowing up a college reputation.) Sitting safely on your deanship (Keeping up with the contributor's notes) It must look easy to write more.
But, to be honest, it's more like blood And every line that oozes out has its price.
(I wonder if you are willing to go yours?) Perhaps we could both stand a transfusion -- Each, in his way, putting the essentials back in circulation.
Hope to see more of you soon.

Marketing Among the Pennsylvania Dutch

Strange to sit among these black-garbed citizens, Their hats resting squarely on unkept curls Limp from going it alone too long.
At first I thought they were hassidim, Confused in the subways and not long out of Brownsville --
Searching the grounds again for the right hole.
But later I realized men and land were the same;
A race of Pennsylvania Dutch running The tourist boom from Lancaster to Downingtown.
They hang out in town squares on market day,
Their women trailing skirts over the cobbled stones Wicker baskets filled with week-end eggs And bonnets that point everything straight ahead.
Strange to move among the leeks and tomatoes, Among the hex signs that shout out fertility As I finger the cheese and move on Wondering what keeps this people from falling off As they pack up their buggies, collapse the stands, Turn the posters inside out and head toward home.

-- Sanford Pinsker

Lancaster, Pa.

At the Hour of the Daily Reckoning

-- to Charles Bukowski

Because you didn't you haven't oaks, burning leaves, long doorways of open snow, but
a cracked sun,
empty bottles,
a palm as brittle as old newspapers,
no place to hide.

-- Hugh Fox

East Lansing, Mich.

The edition of this issue has been limited to 600 numbered copies and this is copy number:

0222

P A T R O N S

William H. C. Newberry
Donald R. Peterson
U. Grant Roman

Dr. Marvin Sukov
Ellen S. Tiffet
Claudia Winski

Wormwood may be purchased from the following stores:

Asphodel Book Shop, 306 West Superior Ave., Cleveland, Ohio 44113 Briggs' Books 'N Things, 82 East 10th St., N.Y., N.Y.
Decaturation, 1222 Decatur St., New Orleans, La.
Either/Or Bookstore, 124 Pier Ave., Hermosa Beach, Calif. 90254 Gotham Book Mart, 41 West 47th St., N.Y., N.Y. 10036
J. M. Nunnelee, Bookseller, 439 North Sprigg St., Cape Girardeau, Missouri 63701 Pigments of the Imagination, 311 East Liberty, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48103 Paperbook Gallery, Storrs, Conn. 06268
Peace Eye Bookstore, 147 Avenue A, N.Y., N.Y. 10009 Poetry X/Change, Box 4073 Pacific Station, Glendale, California 91202

The following bookstores are not recommended, since they make no attempt to honor their billed obligations: Abington Book Shop (Kansas), Artists' Workshop (Detroit), Aspen Bookshop (Colorado), City Lights (San Francisco), Tompkins Square Books (New York City) and Trent Book Shop (Nottingham, England). This list published as part of our attempt as a magazine to survive honorably in an environment of willful mediocrity armed with technology and surface-kulture.

The regular subscription rate to Wormwood is $3.50 to individuals and $4.00 to institutions for four issues released at irregular intervals within the period of a year's time. Single copies at $1 per will be postpaid anywhere in the world. Patrons' subscriptions are $6 for four signed (yellow-pages) issues. Copies of issues #11-29 are still available at a rate of $3.50 per 4 copies.

Little Mag Notes:

Agenzia:3 is "Paris -- Mai" -- excellent document fm. Jochen Gerz, 25 rue Vandamme, Paris 14e, France

Poesie Vivante (11 rue Hoffmann, 1202 Geneva, Switzerland) expands with #25/26 to a 144 page format in 20 languages, with numerous holographic-iconographic documents ($2)

Ghost Dance, edit. Hugh Fox, a new international quarterly of exptl. poetry. $2.50/yr. or $.75/copy fm. Dept. American Thought & Language, Michigan State Univ., East Lansing, Mich. 48823

Seared Eye:1 now released, the first of 6 issues; $6 for all fm. Grande Ronde Press, 1901 F St., Sacramento, Calif. 95814 -- poetry submissions by invitation only -- when completed hopes to be a complete anthology of the current scene. Grande Ronde Review continues fm. same address: $5/yr. or $.75/copy.

Gnosis, soon released fm. 372 Pacific St., Brooklyn, N.Y. 11217

Imago:9 is David McFadden's The Saladmaker, only $.60 fm. George Bowering, c/o English Dept., Sir George Williams Univ., Montreal 25, Quebec, Canada

cuervo international, multilingual, vanguard poetry, edit. Dukardo Hinestrosa, P.O. Box 27645, Hollywood, Calif. 90027 $.50/copy, $5/yr.

Isinglass Review wants mms., c/o Fred Bonnie, South Hero, Vermont 05486 $.35/copy

South Florida Poetry Journal also wants mms. -- FAH 265, University of S. Florida, Tampa, Florida 33620 $1/copy

Talon comes fm. 5619 Dunbar St., Vancouver 13, B.C., Canada $2/4 issues -- also plans see/hear, a recorded "mag" of contemporary sound, scheduled for Sept. 1968

Cheshire Magazine $1/copy fm. Univ. of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53201 -- summer issue: Portfolio of Wisconsin Poets

H. L. Van Brunt's Uncertainties has been issued as #9 of The Smith $2.25 (soft) or $4.50 (hard bound) fm. Rm. 535, 15 Park Row, New York, N.Y. 10038

Latest fm. East Carolina Poetry Forum, Univ. Stat. P.O. Box 2707, Greenville, N.C. 27834: Trio in Bronze (Carol Hallman, Michael Posey, Carol Honeycutt), Trio in Scarlet (Robt. Chetkin, Marie Matthews, Juanita Tobin), Trio in Gold (Chas. Wiley, Barbara Knott, Whitney Hadden) $1/each

The Willie wants stories, poems, journals, experiences, and back country road visions of hitch-hiking -- send to Manic Press, 120 Siena, Long Beach, Calif. 90803 Outlet (edit. Wayne Philpott) fm. P.O. Box 662, Manhattan, Kansas 66502 -- wants mms.

Vagabond lives! and the #6 issue is Hans Juergensen's Sermons from the Ammunition Hatch of the Ship of Fools, $2 fm. new address at 1810 1/2 Dauphine, New Orleans, La. 70116

Flame (edit Alistair Wisker) 2/6 per copy fm. Univ. of Essex, Wivenhoe Park, Colchester, Essex, England -- also books: Some Flame Poetry(2/6) Pyramid (edit. Ottone Riccio) $4/yr. fm. 32 Waverley St., Belmont, Mass. 02178 -- wants mms.

Damn You (Prose Poems), edited by Alok Rai, Arvind Krishna Mehrotra, and Amit Rai -- $1 fm. 18 Hastings Rd., Allahabad, India

Open Places (edit. Eleanor Bender) $2/yr. fm. 334 East 15th. St., New York, N.Y. 10003

Lung Socket (edit. Brown Miller) $.69/copy fm. 255 Lakeshore Drive, Daly City, Calif. 94015

Alkahest: American College Poetry #1 95 cents/copy fm. Wesleyan University Press, 100 Riverview Center, Middletown, Conn. 06457 Aldebaran Review #1 and 2 (edit. John Simon) $.50/copy fm. 2935 Grove (P.O.), Berkeley, Calif. 94703

Red Cedar Review (edit. Craig Sterry) $3.50/yr. fm. 325 Morrill Hall, Michigan State Univ., East Lansing, Michigan 48823

Esparavel (edit. H. M. Gongora) Col. Carrera 70A, No. 63-52, Bogota, Columbia

This And (edit. Michael Garner) $2/yr., $.50/copy fm. 196 West 108th. St., New York, N. Y. 10025

Zeitgeist (edit. Gary Groat) $3/yr., $.75/copy fm. Box 150, East Lansing, Michigan 48823

Classic:

Measured Space, constructions by Toby Lurie, $2.45 fm. Hors Commerce Press, 22526 Shadycroft Ave., Torrance, Calif. 90505 -- important!

Highly Recommended:

Last Train to Prophetstown (Dave Etter) $1.95 fm. Univ. of Nebr. Press, Lincoln, Nebraska

Stone Chats (Ian Hamilton Finlay) fm. Wild Hawthorn Press, Stony-path, Dunsyre, Lanark, Scotland

Ole Anthology edit. by Douglas Blazek, fm. Poetry X/Change, Box 4073 Pacific Station, Glendale, Calif. 91202 -- $2.50

The Thief of Kisses (James Hazard) $1 bargain fm. Great Lakes Books Kaleidoscope, P.O. Box 5457, Milwaukee, Wisc. 53211

Mica Mountain Poems, (Peter Wild) $.75 fm. Lillabulero, P.O. Box 67, Aurora, New York, 13026 ALSO: The Afternoon in Dismay (Peter Wild) finely printed at $3.75 fm. Art Association of Cincinnati, P.O. Box 6054, Cincinnati, Ohio 45206

Poems Written Before Jumping Out of an 8 Story Window (Chas. Bukowski) fm. Poetry X/Change, Box 4073 Pacific Station, Glendale, Calif. 91202 -- $1.50

An Anthology of Revolutionary Poetry (edit. Dan Georgakas; dedicated to Yannis Ritsos) $1 fm. Smyrna Press, Box 418, Stuyvesant Station, New York, N.Y. 10009

Little Publishers:

Runcible Spoon is madly publishing good things -- 6ixes (Phil Weidman) $1.50; Mad Night With Sunflowers (Peter Wild) $1; Putah Creek Overflow (D.r. Wagner) $1; Tomb Stone as a Lovely Charm (d.a. levy); Ballads of the Restless Are (bp Nichol) $.50; Balancing Out (Terry Stokes) $.50; Joining Up and Other Poems (Peter Wild) $.50; It Might Be a Window (John Buckner) $.50; Radar (Lisa Galt) $1.00; Colors (Hillary Ayer Fowler) $.25; All the Broken Toys in Heaven (D.r. Wagner) $.50; Adventures of the Floating Rabbi (John Oliver Simon) $.50; Anecdote of the Parrot (David Tammer) $.50; A Solitary Tribute to the Hermit of Bald Mountain (Ben L. Hiatt) $.50; Look at the Moon Then (T. L. Kryss) $.50 -- all fm. R. Spoon, P.O. Box 4622, Sacramento, Calif. 95825 or fm. Asphodel Book Shop.

Not to be outdistanced, Grande Ronde Press issues: One, Two, Three (mel buffington) $1; The Old Car & Other Black Poems (Keith Wilson) $1.25; The Sirens in the Park and the Ribbons in the Hairs (D.r. Wagner) $1; Toward Communication (Kell D. Robertson Jr.) $1; Dream Songs (Harvey Tucker) $1; Seattle Potlatch (Ben L. Hiatt) $1.50; Willow (Jo Merrill) $1.25; Viva la Revolucion de Paz (R. J. Valley Jr.) $.75; Gun Child (Roger Sauls) $1.25; Eight for Sea & Mt. (Ben L. Hiatt) sgnd. $1; Daily Bread (mel buffington) $.50; Quarter Tones (Gene Fowler) $.25; Rewind (david hiatt) $.35; ikebana (Carlos Reyes) $.50 -- order fm. New Dimension, P.O. Box 4622, Sacramento, Calif. 95825

Latest fm. Poets Press, Inc., 23 East 10th St., N.Y., N.Y. are: Diane diPrima's Earthsong, David Henderson's Felix of the Silent Forest, and Andre Lorde's The First Cities -- each $1.50

Sharon Asselin's Fat Frog Press issues Hugh Fox's Apotheosis of Olde Towne fm. Box 313, San Bruno, Calif. 94066

Gerard Malanga's Prelude to International Velvet Debutante ($1.25), Morgan Gibson's Mayors of Marble ($1) and a broadside Birthday Death-day, June 6, 1968 -- all fm. Great Lakes Books, 733 E. Clarke St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53212

Black Sun Press has released a ltd. signed edition of Duane Locke's From the Bottom of the Sea, as well as Harvey Tucker's Obscured Chronologies and The Destruction of the Trinities -- each $1 fm. 70 Pierrepont St., Brooklyn, New York 11201

Olivant Press has published Entrails Anthology, the best fm. Gene Bloom's mag ($2.75), plus some hardbacks: How It Is (Sue Abbott Boyd) $7.95; The Evaporated Man (Olga Cabral) $3; The Field (Elizabeth Sale) $4.50. Latest softbound release is Eve Triem's Heliodora (translations from the Greek) $2. Write: P.O. Box 1409, Homestead, Fla. 33030 That Poor Devil Eire and Some Slight Protuberances (Poems by Malachy Quinn, Drawings by Jean-Louis Badet) $2.95 and Hovde Folio 10:10 (Poems by A. J. Hovde, drawings by Jane Hovde) $3.95 fm. Hors Commerce Press, 22526 Shadycroft Ave., Torrance, Calif. 90505

the wormwood review : 30

Christopher Perret's Geranium Issue

Editor : Marvin Malone

price : one dollar
