WORMWOOD subscriptions are now $6.00/4 issues/year to all individuals and $7.00/4 issues/year to all institutions. No more than four patron's subscriptions are presently available at $20.00 for 4 issues with poet-signed center-sections/chapbooks. Free inspection copies are not available because of our very limited press run, but copies may be purchased at $3.00 (includes first-class postage). Back issues 16-23, 25-44, 46-52, 54-70, 72-84 and 86-93 are available at $3.00 per issue postpaid. Microfilm volumes of the magazine are available from University Microfilms, 3101 North Zeeb Road, Ann Arbor MI 48106. Our contents are indexed in the Index of American Periodical Verse, available from Scarecrow Press, P.O. Box 656, Metuchen NJ 08840.

The "announcements/reviews" section of WORMWOOD is missing from this issue, but will be continued in future numbers. Delivery of paid copies is guaranteed up through and including issue 108. In a year's time, four issues of WORMWOOD are prepared, but mailings are made at no fixed times. A mailing may consist of 2-4 issues. The press cannot respond to subscriber claims when the issues in question have not been released for mailing to all our subscribers.

Simultaneous submissions are not considered and WORMWOOD will not knowingly reprint an already published work. Reprint rights are re-assigned to the authors without cost but only upon written request. Any further publication must acknowledge first appearance in WORMWOOD.

"... Seeking an art based on fundamentals to cure the madness of the age and a new order of things that would restore the balance between heaven and hell. We had a dim premonition that power-mad gangsters would one day use art itself as a way of deadening men's minds."

-- Jean Arp in "Dadaland"
